LAND TAX NOT DISCRIMINATORY, SAYS GOVT

This article reports on the defence of the Namibian Governments land tax policies by the Ministry of Agriculture, water and land reform who state they are not discriminatory. This relates to a notice on exemption procedures that was sent out in December stating that previously disadvantaged individuals, non-profit organisations and all women, irrespective of their race or colour, are exempted from paying land taxes. The article gives details of, and hears from, white farmers who are complaining that taxing them and not black farmers is to force them to sell their land.
