Welcome

Welcome to your new Member Handbook. Whether you are an existing member or have just joined your local co-operative and are moving into your new home, this handbook will give you a range of useful information about your tenancy, your home and being a member of a co-operative.

Please take time to familiarise yourself with your new handbook and if you have queries or wish to discuss any of the information included, your Housing Officer will be available to assist you.

About Co-operative Housing Ireland

The co-operative housing movement in Ireland has been represented, promoted and developed by Co-operative Housing Ireland (CHI) since 1973. Since then, Co-operative Housing Ireland has helped to provide more than 7,500 homes across Ireland. These were a mix of homes for ownership, homes in shared ownership between the member and the co-operative, and homes for rent.

Co-operative Housing Ireland continues to develop new co-operative homes and provides a range of services to local co-operatives. These services include training, support in policies and procedures, and help in raising standards. Co-operative Housing Ireland is committed to continuous improvement and works closely with the local co-operatives to improve the quality of services provided to members.

Each new member must join their local co-operative and buy €80 worth of shares before they can sign a tenancy agreement. Your details are kept on the local co-operative share register.

CHI is committed in helping to address Irelands current housing and homelessness crisis. We work in partnership with Local Authorities, private developers, other approved housing bodies and central government in the development and management of new and existing properties.

On an annual basis CHI is expanding as an organisation and is proactively responding to the housing and homelessness crisis by delivering good quality social homes for individuals and families on Local Authority social housing waiting lists.

When you are allocated a home with the co-operative housing movement, you become a member of a local co-operative. A thriving co-operative needs its members to get involved and contribute to building the community. Training and support for your co-operative is available through CHI. As a member you are encouraged to help to organise community events and look out for your neighbours. If you have an idea for a community project talk to your local co-operative or your Housing Officer.

As a member of the co-operative, you have bought shares in your local organisation and have a say in decisions that affect you. The shares that you have bought entitle you to participate in the running of your local co-operative as a member. Shares are returned to you if your membership ceases. They are not a security deposit for your home.

Every year, your local co-operative will organise an Annual General Meeting (AGM) that you will be invited to attend. At the AGM, you will be able to stand for election to your Local Management Committee. The Committee oversees the work of the Local Co-operative.

The AGM will also select up to three delegates who will have the power to vote at Co-operative Housing Ireland's AGM. The Local Co-operative can also nominate a member to be put forward for election to sit on the Board of Co-operative Housing Ireland. The Board of Co-operative Housing Ireland is responsible for setting the goals of the Organisation and for overseeing the work of Co-operative Housing Ireland staff.

Tenancy Agreement

Your Tenancy Agreement is a legal document which creates a legal agreement between you and Co-operative Housing Ireland. Prior to receiving keys to your home, every member is required to sign a Tenancy Agreement. The agreement is also signed by Co-operative Housing Ireland and a copy is provided to you.

Prior to signing your Tenancy Agreement, a staff member from the Customer Service Team will explain the contents of the agreement so you understand the terms and conditions.

The tenancy agreement is a legally binding document for all members of the family who live in the property.

Please keep a copy of the tenancy agreement in a safe place for further reference.

The rights and responsibilities of both Co-operative Housing Ireland and the member are set out in your tenancy agreement.

The handbook will briefly outline the roles and responsibilities further below. As Co-operative Housing Ireland is also an approved housing body, changes to the Residential Tenancies Amendment Act 2015 means all tenancies must be registered with the Residential Tenancies Board (for further information see Page 44).

Probationary Period

The probationary period is the period of six months from the date of commencement of your tenancy.

During this 6-month period you do not have security of tenure and the tenancy can be terminated.

At the end of the 6-month period you will then receive statutory protection for 5.5 years providing no breach of the terms of your tenancy agreement has taken place.

Examples of Criminal Behaviour

- Sale & supply of drugs

- Vandalism and Graffiti
- Dangerous driving of cars or other vehicles within estates

Rent

The rent amount payable by each member is based on his/her household income, family size and the cost of management, caretaking and maintenance of the co-operative dwellings.

On most CHI properties a Local Authority Differential Rent applies. Some older properties have rent calculated using a different rent scheme agreement. A member of the Customer Services Team will explain to you prior to the allocation of the home, how your rent is calculated and the Rent Scheme your rent is based on. If you are an existing member with a query about your rent calculation, your Housing Officer will be happy to answer your questions.

Members are required to pay the rent amount due for each month as per the tenancy agreement.

Responsibility

It is the members (including joint members) responsibility to pay the rent weekly in advance, in accordance with the tenancy agreement.

Rent is an essential source of CHI's income and pays for the ongoing maintenance of your home and your estate. Rents must be paid to enable CHI to deliver an effective and efficient housing management service to our members.

Members who do not pay rent or fall into arrears are placing their tenancy at risk.

Rent is due a month in advance

On the day of key handover, it is the members responsibility to lodge one months' rent in advance prior to receiving your keys. Proof of payment is required on the day.

Rent is payable monthly in advance and is to be paid by the 14th of each month. For example, if your rent is €30.00 per week, you would be paying €1,560 for the year. Your monthly rent would be €130.

CHI's Rent Year

CHI's rent year runs from July 1st for 52 weeks until the beginning of the following July. (However, if your income changes within that 12-month period please contact your Housing Officer as you may be eligible for a rent review).

Annual Rent Review

Members are required to provide full and accurate details during each rent review year about their household's gross income and family size (including the income details of all adults over the age of 18 years residing in the dwelling). This information must be provided on request, usually during April of each year.

How can I pay my Rent?

There are different options available to members when paying rent:

- Standing Order: through your own bank account
- Our new Payment Portal on the CHI website (cooperativehousing.ie) which accepts debit and credit card payments
- Electronic Transfer: using your bank's online system
- Household Budget Scheme: If you receive your social welfare payment from the post office
- Post Office Card: Rent Swipe Card at any Post Office
- Telephone Payments may be made only in exceptional circumstances

Standing Orders, Household Budget, and online payment are the most convenient options available when paying your rent. The above options can be discussed with your Housing Officer who will facilitate any further queries you may have.

NB: It is important to use your occupancy reference number as the forwarding message to CHI when paying by standing order or electronic transfer to ensure your payment is credited to your account as quickly as possible.

Payment Records

CHI will monitor your rent account on a monthly basis using our IT Housing Management System.

You will receive a quarterly statement from your Housing Officer showing the rent you are being charged and the rent you have paid.

Members can also request a rent account statement from your local Member Service Office or by speaking to your Housing Officer.

Members are responsible for monitoring payment records. Members are requested to keep receipts of all payments made.

Where you feel some rent is not accounted for on the rent statement, please make an appointment with your Housing Officer to discuss. Please note, no payments can be credited to your account without proof of payment.

Missed Rent Payments

When you signed a tenancy agreement with CHI a commitment is made for rent payments to be made on time and in advance.

If you have missed a rent payment it is important to contact your local office or Housing Officer informing them of the missed payment and when you will make the payment.

CHI through monthly checks of rent accounts will try to ensure members are made aware as soon as possible if the rent account falls into arrears.

Continuous non-payment of rent is a serious breach of your commitment to CHI and failure to pay rent may result in you losing your home. It may also exclude you from access to social housing in the future.

CHI have a rent arrears process in place and Housing Officers will take necessary steps to ensure the arrears are addressed with you.

If appropriate, CHI may set a rent arrears agreement that you can manage in line with your income and outgoings. Failure to adhere to such an arrangement may put your tenancy at risk.

Money Management

It is important for you to manage your income and expenditure once you begin renting a home.

If you are finding it difficult to manage your money some help and support can be found through the following services, MABS (Money Advice & Budgeting Service).

www.mabs.ie

MABS provide a free and confidential service from all members of the public.

Service Charges

Depending on the type of estate or apartment block you live in, a service charge may apply to your rent. Your Housing Officer will let you know if one applies, prior to you accepting a home from CHI.

Service charges are a financial charge to recoup costs of shared services to a property block or estate.

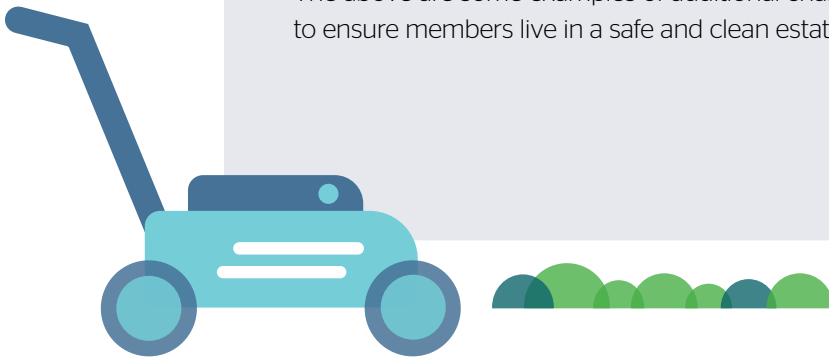

These services are additional to those that CHI usually provides but are a necessary part of the estate you live in.

CHI will review service charges on an annual basis to ensure that members get the best rate.

Types of Service Charges that may apply to your home

- Bin Collection
- Management Agency Fees
- Additional cleaning services in communal areas
- Additional staff for caretaking duties
- Heating & lighting of lobbies and other common areas
- Grass cutting of common areas
- Lifts, door entry systems, fire alarm panels

The above are some examples of additional charges made to ensure members live in a safe and clean estate.

Where an appointment is made, and nobody is at home at the time of calling it is your responsibility to arrange a further appointment with CHI.

Condensation in the Home

What is Condensation?

Condensation occurs when the air gets colder and cannot hold all the moisture and water appears on surfaces such as windows and walls.

Condensation can be associated with not heating or ventilating your home. Therefore, CHI have appropriate ventilation systems in place, such as wall and mechanical ventilation units.

It is important for you to open your windows daily to allow the flow of air into your home.

NB: where you suspect condensation or mould is developing in the property and you have tried to eliminate or control by using the above tips, please contact your Housing Officer especially where black mould growth is occurring in your property.

How to prevent condensation in your home

There are many ways you can prevent condensation from occurring in your home:

- Cooking with pan lids on
- Turn the heat down when the pot begins to boil
- Use the Mechanical Ventilation system in the kitchen
- Avoid drying laundry on the radiators
- Dry washing outdoors where possible
- Don't leave kettles boiling
- If drying clothes indoors place in the bathroom with the door closed, window open and extractor fan turned on
- Do not use your gas cooker to heat your home
- Vent tumble driers to outside
- Keep your trickle vents open and unblocked
- Ventilate bathrooms after use
- Use Extractor fans where provided
- Wipe excess condensation off windows and surfaces during the morning time
- During cold weather it is essential to heat your home.
- Kitchens & Bathrooms require the most ventilation due to cooking, washing, bathing, and drying creating the highest levels of moisture in your home
- During bath time run the cold water first and then the hot water. This will reduce the steam hitting window and wall surfaces
- Allow space in and around furniture and wardrobes
Do not overfill wardrobes as it restricts the circulation of air.

Mould

How do I remove Mould?

If you find mould in your property, wipe it off immediately with water using a sponge or a cloth.

Do not use washing up liquid.

Apply bleach to the wall or use a recommended mould removal product from any DIY store. Please wear rubber gloves and read the instructions carefully.

Some handy tips below if you have had mould:

- Dry Clean any mildewed clothes
- Shampoo carpets
- Do not brush or vacuum clean mould
- Following treatment redecorate using a good quality fungicidal paint that helps prevent mould
- Do not overcoat with ordinary paint, emulsion or wallpaper.

If black mould develops in your property this is due to excessive moisture and may signal the ventilation, insulation or heating may need to be checked.

Please contact your Housing Officer where black mould is noted, and this will be inspected. All CHI units are acquired and constructed in line with the building regulations at the time of construction, however your property may need planned upgrades from time to time.

Remember - The only way to prevent mould from occurring is to eliminate dampness. This is most commonly caused by condensation and poor ventilation.

What does this mean for you & Co-operative Housing Ireland?

Leaving your Home

A member may end up having to leave their home for the number of reasons including a transfer to another area, termination of the tenancy or a voluntary ending of a tenancy.

Where you wish to leave your home and hand the property back to CHI, you are required to write to your co-operative office or Housing officer outlining your intent to vacate the property.

You must give CHI at least 4 weeks' notice in writing prior to vacating your property.

On receiving your written instruction, a member of staff will arrange an appointment to visit your home and carry out a pre-surrender inspection of your property.

Prior to handing back the keys to CHI

- 7. Keys have been returned to a member of CHI staff
- 8. The rent account for the property is up-to-date and that any standing orders have been cancelled
- 9. The rent card is returned to a member of CHI staff.

Safety in your home

Fire Safety

The three rules to ensure you are safe from fire are as follows:

1. Prevention – The best way to be “fire safe” is to ensure that fires never happen
2. Detection – A fire alarm that works will give you time to get everybody out of the house
3. Evacuation – Get out and stay out where a fire occurs. Please help younger children, elderly or sick people that may be in your home

Fire Detection

- Ensure smoke detectors are tested once a week
- Contact CHI where batteries are beeping and need replacing
- Please ensure the Fire Blanket provided to you remains where it was fitted by CHI

NB: It is important to discuss how serious fire safety in the home is with all members of the tenancy agreement.

What to do if you detect a fire in your home

- If there is smoke, keep low as the air is cleaner
- Get everybody out as quickly as possible
- Call 999 or 112
- Ask for the fire service
- Listen to the operator's advice
- Speak in a calm manor
- Give the details requested by the operator
- Do not hang up until the operator advises you to do so
- Always remember –
Do not re-enter a home that is on fire. Wait for the fire brigade to come
- Contact CHI to inform them a fire has occurred

NB: it is important that you and your family are aware of escape routes and emergency exits for apartment blocks. Do not block escape routes such as stairs, windows and emergency doors in apartment complexes.

How to prevent a fire in your home

- Do not smoke when you are in bed, tired or on medication

Winter Months

Preparing for Winter Months

During periods of severe weather, it is important to obtain the latest weather information and updates to help prepare during times of weather warnings.

Weather warnings are presented in three categories:

Status Yellow Weather Alert

Be Aware

The concept behind YELLOW level weather alerts is to notify those who are at risk because of their location and/or activity, and to allow them to take preventative action. It is implicit that YELLOW level weather alerts are for weather conditions that do not pose an immediate threat to the general population, but only to those exposed to risk by nature of their location and/or activity.

Status Orange Weather Alert

Be Prepared

This category of ORANGE level weather warnings is for weather conditions which have the capacity to impact significantly on people in the affected areas. The issue of an Orange level weather warning implies that all recipients in the affected areas should prepare themselves in an appropriate way for the anticipated conditions.

Status Red Severe Weather Warning

Take Action

The issue of RED level severe weather warnings should be a comparatively rare event and implies that recipients take action to protect themselves and/or their properties; this could be by moving their families out of the danger zone temporarily, by staying indoors or by other specific actions aimed at mitigating the effects of the weather conditions.
