When we were last together...

- We reflected on stories we want to tell about action we're taking and progress we're making
- We discussed measuring parts of our tricky projects, like experience and network building
- We heard dispatches from teams' first Equity Action Labs

Announcement for Population Health Collectives

Data Collection Workshop

Wednesday, May 3, 12:00–1:00 PM

The Black maternal health crisis is the the American maternal health crisis. There is no delineation. If we can fix this for Black women, we fix it for everybody.

Team Dispatches

As you listen, consider...

- What can our team shamelessly steal?
- How can I move our team to one more burst of action before the CHILA?
- If our team wants to make progress like their team, who should we bring to the CHILA with us?

Our Implementation Team

The focus of our work

Improving lives:

- Individual Level (Access to Care): GetHelpOC takes the time off the individual in need to navigate services and resources on their own and reduces the technology and accessibility barriers to services.
- Organizational Level (Service Delivery Systems): Creates a pipeline of future nonprofit leaders who reflect the ethnic, cultural, economic, ability, identity, and community diversity of Orange County.
- Sector Level (Policy & Program Systems): GetHelpOC supports real-time data for the public good distributing power to all sectors & impacted communities. GetHelpOC will be responsible for sharing & using data to highlight inequities & inspire a movement for systems change.

Our team: The first Equity Cohort is selected of at least 10 front line staff (Equity Cohort Leads) who reflect Orange County's diversity and have lived & learned health equity experience. 20 grassroots leaders who reflect the diversity of the communities served by the Equity Partners.

By March 2024, 70% of GetHelpOC participants improve by 0.5 percent within nine months of engaging with GetHelpOC as measured with GetHelpOC's Social Determinant of Health Assessment.

Who should your team invite to the CHILA?

- Bring as much of your core equity improvement team as you can

The CHILA will include time for you to learn, reflect, make decisions, and plan work as a team

- Invite 1-2 people who you'd like to pull deeper into the work

Use the event to motivate them and assign them a task or two

- Make a plan for what you want each person at your table to get from the experience

Update your team's Improvement Tracker for March!
