

If you are 21 or older you may also include income from others, such as a spouse, if you regularly use that income to pay your expenses. Alimony, child support and separate maintenance need not be included if you don't wish to rely upon it.