Atlantic Financial Group announces new location in Zurich

In line with its goal to expand its services, Atlantic Financial Group has opened a new office in Zurich, Switzerland. The Zurich office will be represented by Fabio Sileno, who has joined the team this summer as Head of Business Development Zurich & Middle East. Fabio will focus on the B2B business with financial intermediaries to promote their financial and advisory services related to structured products, portfolio management, research, structuring certificates & funds, private equity and real estate.

Previously, Fabio was heading the Financial Intermediaries Desk at Société Générale Private Banking in Zurich. He was serving financial intermediaries like independent asset managers, family offices and institutional investors over the last 8 years first at Credit Suisse and thereafter at Société Générale.

Fabio mentions "Zurich is considered a key market by Atlantic Financial Group, based on a high number of sophisticated financial intermediaries located in this beautiful city. It was a logical step to expand in Zurich after the recent strong development of Atlantic Financial Group in Geneva."

Fabio also says: "I feel honored to represent Atlantic Financial Group in Zurich and the Swiss German part of Switzerland. We have a unique offering combining a range of key financial services. This allows us to offer global business solutions which reduce the complexity for financial intermediaries. I am looking forward to build new partnerships and engage in new discussions with potential partners."
