Our approach

Long experience in the sector: MDF was built on learning trajectories. It's how we started four decades ago, which gave us a wealth of experience in the field.

Trainer as a facilitator of collective knowledge: The trainer's role in our approach is to facilitate group intelligence and experience. We believe that everyone has something to share related to a topic, and that we can all learn from each other.

We love visuals! Graphics, photos, and drawings facilitate comprehension and help retain messages in long-term memory. They are often reproduced in many software programs when we work online or simply by using cards and Post-its face-to-face.

Our learning environment is excellent: Participants are fully engaged through creative activities, role-playing, apps, games, and other methods. At MDF, numerous interactions are utilised in training sessions.

We have special offers available for our alumni and organisations.
