

The Canadian Wetlands Roundtable

To secure the future of Canada's wetlands

3 Years
5 Projects
1 Opportunity

Wetlands are a natural climate change solution, they prevent flooding, drought and contribute to overall watershed stability, biodiversity and the health and well-being of people.

The problem is that Canada is losing 32 hectares of wetlands every day and these losses are not just a lost of habitat, they're costing Canadians and industry an extraordinary amount of money. Current conservation efforts barely keep up with ongoing loss let alone compensate for historic losses.

The Canadian Wetlands Roundtable has a solution, and we're looking for leading sectors to join us in our commitment to:

- developing frameworks, standards and tools to position wetlands as nature smart climate solutions
- working with industry associations and NGOs with control or influence over hundreds of millions of hectares of wetlands across Canada
- representing tens of thousands of Canadian landowners and land managers

Canada continues to lose wetlands. These losses don't just affect rural areas—cities are at risk, too. Finding sustainable solutions through conservation and restoration is our mission.

Our Projects

- Determining the Economic Value of Wetlands to Canadians
- Updating Canada's Wetland Inventory
- Producing a Wetland Evaluation Guide
- Reviewing Wetland Policies across Canada
- Making Beneficial Management Practices available for all sectors
