Results- Based Management

Managing for lasting sustainable results

Bangkok, 3 to 6 December 2024

Our RBM course

During the last decade, results-based management (RBM) has gained much influence in international cooperation. Still, many organisations struggle to plan for real and sustainable change and with designing results-oriented. RBM, with a focus on sustainable development results, has consequences for the entire organisation: for planning and for how information is generated and used for decision taking, accountability, and communication. Learning how to develop a project with the help of the Theory of Change, design a good results framework and develop a monitoring system is a first step to integrate RBM in your organisation.

At the end of the course you will

- Understand RBM concepts in a changing and complex context
- Know various methods for planning and designing results and when to use them
- Understand the importance of stakeholder analysis for achieving results
- Understand the importance of risk management for achieving results
- Know how to develop and assess monitoring systems
- Know how to measure complex change
- Know what it takes as an organisation to improve RBM practices

Key Topics & Timeline

Day 1 (3 December 2024)

Introduction to RBM, PCM, results chain and stakeholders' analysis

Day 2 (4 December 2024)

Selecting the right strategies and SMART indicators

Day 3 (5 December 2024)

Developing a results-based monitoring system

Day 4 (6 December 2024)

Evaluation and operational planning

I'm very happy to be able to take part in this Results-Based Management training from MDF because it has helped me to better understand how to use project management and project monitoring tools. Some of tools are new to me.

Results-Based Management Course Trainee

Your profile

You are a programme manager, team leader, head of department, project officer, consultant, or advisor in the public, non-profit, or private sector, who needs to master RBM concepts and tools. You already know the basics of M&E but you struggle with organising your learning and accountability processes. Ultimately, you want your organisation to make a difference in a complex environment.
