

A New Normal in Banking and Finance:

Exploring Human-Centric Transformation

A COMPANION INFOGRAPHIC TO A PODCAST SERIES

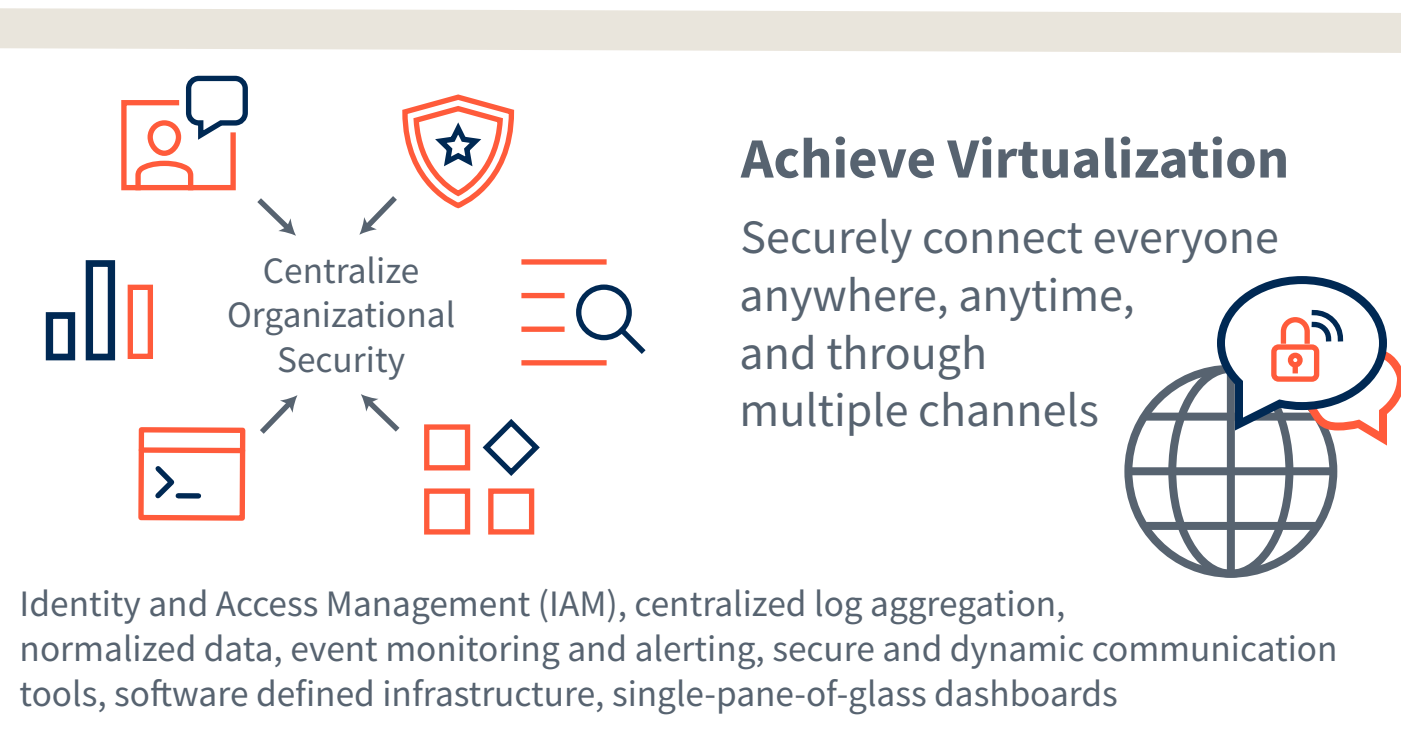

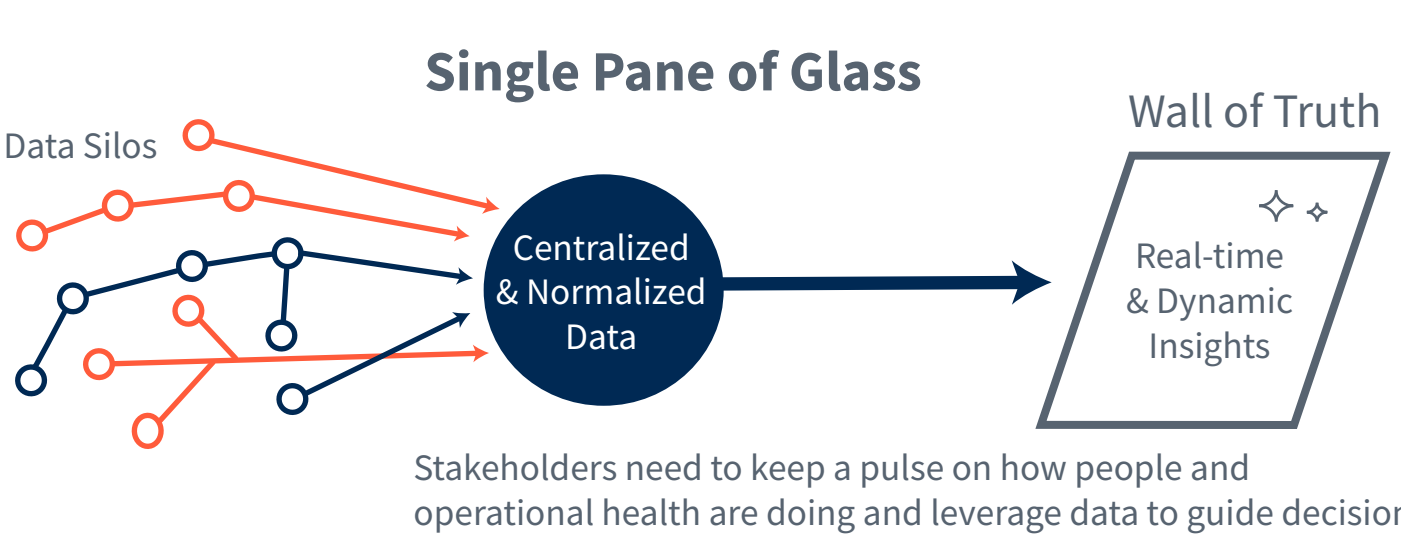

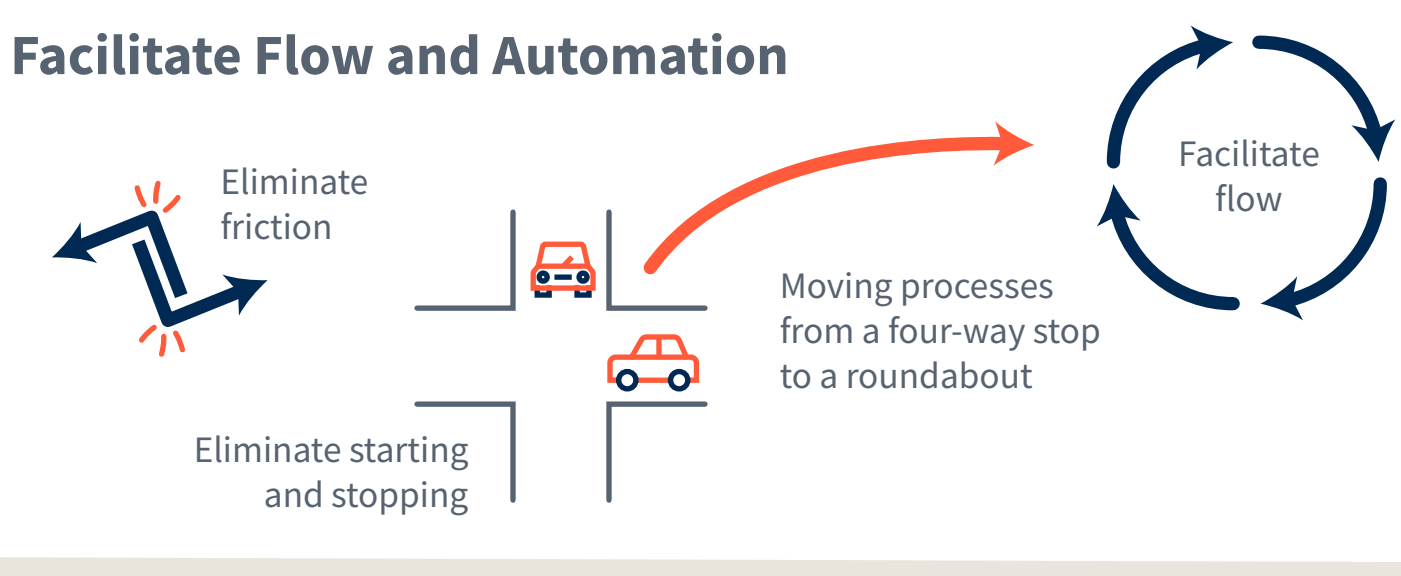

The bank and finance industry can most effectively accelerate transformation with a human-centric approach.

Bâton Global and Trility Consulting® teamed up to discuss how data and technology supports the transition towards a distributed workforce in a series of podcasts, particularly during and post- COVID-19. As a companion piece to the podcast series, this INFOGRAPHIC summarizes discussions of the strategies and tactic organizations can consider when responding to the industry headwinds and pressures – including those amplified or created by the pandemic.

Join Kavi Chawla, Wade Britt, and Matthew D. Edwards as they discuss how this industry can address transformation aimed at simplifying and automating processes for team members, stakeholders, and ultimately customers by protecting their most valuable asset – people.

The first podcast discusses how organizations can explore these aspects when pursuing transformation that changes the way they do business.

LISTEN TO EPISODE 6