HIGHLIGHTS OF THE MONTH

The month of March marks the end of hibernation in Paris. Big coats are gradually giving way to mid-season clothing, the days are getting longer and the sun is gradually warming up the capital. The first buds appear, and winter bows out as we welcome spring. At the first mild temperatures, one-day and lifelong Parisians immediately see the opportunity to enjoy a drink on the terrace or to enjoy an aperitif outdoors, on the banks of the Seine as well as in the parks and gardens. A period of transition which is accompanied, as always, by a fabulous program of outings in this capital which knows no pause.
