A Gift of Kindness.

200 years have passed

It has been over 200 years since Dr James Parkinson first identified patients suffering the 'shaking palsy'. And yet, despite all the advances in modern medicine and technology, we still don't have a cure. This means that for 12,000 New Zealanders, living with the limitations of shaking palsy is a daily – hourly – challenge.

Changing this reality won't be easy. So until a cure is found, Parkinson's New Zealand Charitable Trust will work tirelessly to make people with Parkinson's lives more manageable. We will continue to offer information, education and support to people with Parkinson's and Parkinsonism conditions. And that is exactly where you come in, we need your help to make this a reality today and in the future.

Parkinson's New Zealand began with a spirit of supporting people with Parkinson's in the community where they live and work, an early motto being 'the needs of one become the concern of all'. A gift in your Will is a special way to continue your support. It's a gift of kindness that will support people living with Parkinson's for generations to come.

Andrew Dunn

Co-founder of Parkinson's New Zealand

Parkinson's New Zealand Charitable Trust provides information, education and support to people with Parkinson's and Parkinsonism conditions, their carers, whānau and health professionals.

You can make a positive and lasting difference to the lives of people living with Parkinson's. Your gift will ensure that people with Parkinson's are supported well into the future.

Leaving a gift in your Will is one of the kindest gifts you can make. Your gift can change lives for the better, providing support to people with Parkinson's, their carers and families.

Leaving a bequest to Parkinson's New Zealand is a great way to support future generations of people living with Parkinson's and their families. A bequest provides us with the security of knowing that our service can continue to support people with Parkinson's into the future.

Your gift will make a lasting impact. After taking care of your friends and family consider a gift to Parkinson's New Zealand. Be assured that your gift of kindness will be used where the need is the greatest.

Leaving a Bequest in your Will

You can leave a gift in your Will in several ways, from specifying an amount, or a specific gift. Alternatively you can leave a residuary gift, which is what remains of your estate, once other gifts and payments have been made. This is usually a % amount of what is left of your estate.

It's best to get in touch with your solicitor to make any changes to your Will.

To include Parkinson's New Zealand in your Will you will need the full name and address for Parkinson's New Zealand which is :

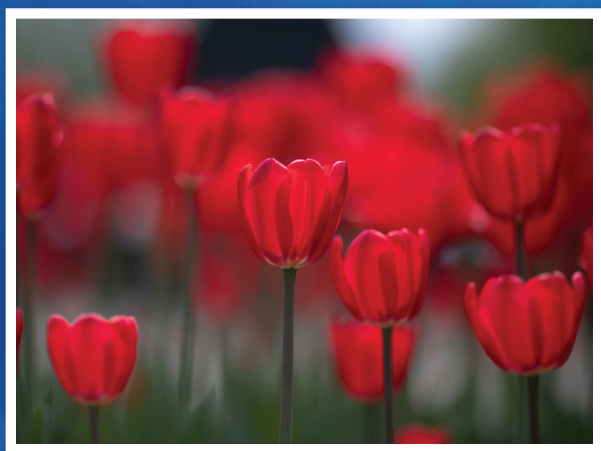

The Parkinson's New Zealand Charitable Trust,
Level 13, Ranchhod Tower, 39 The Terrace,
Wellington 6011. Registered Charity # CC55231.

Thank you for considering a gift in your Will to Parkinson's New Zealand.

John

John lived with Parkinson's for many years. He decided to leave a residual gift to Parkinson's New Zealand. John's gift ensured families living with Parkinson's could have trustworthy information, education and support whenever they needed it.

The interest on this gift is used on an annual basis to help provide information and education to people living with Parkinson's, their family, and carers. By investing this gift, Parkinson's New Zealand ensures John's legacy lives on.

Malcolm

"I've left a gift in my Will as it is a way I can give the sort of gift I wish I could give during my lifetime. I know someone who has Parkinson's, and I've seen the changes in him since having this condition. I have also seen the impact being involved with Parkinson's New Zealand has made in his quality of life.

Parkinson's New Zealand won't be receiving my gift anytime soon as I'm still quite young, but I know that one day, it will help those who need it."
