

Finnish real estate investment manager Sirius launched

2.6.2014

A new Finnish real estate investment manager Sirius Capital Partners has been launched as of June 2014. The founders are Patrick Gylling, Jonas Ahlblad and Matti-Pekka Sävelkoski who have worked together for a long time in the Finnish office of the Nordic real estate private equity company Sveafastigheter.

Sirius continues to run the Finnish holdings of Sveafastigheter Fund III, consisting of a large commercial real estate portfolio.

The firm's new business going forward will focus on opportunistic and value-add real estate investments in Finland. Sirius will make co-investments on a deal-by-deal basis, as well as funds or club deals based on an investment theme. The focus is on property investments where Sirius can, through active management, create value by fixing the assets, repositioning them and turning the investments into attractive exit products.
