CASE STUDY SITUATION

You are the chief human resources officer for PIZZA PARK, a national pizza chain. PIZZA PARK offers guests the option to dine in, carry-out or delivery. Most PIZZA PARK'S sales across the nation are delivery.

Just five years ago, there were limited meal delivery options. Pizza restaurants and Chinese restaurants made up over 75% of all meal delivery. Since that time, the number of third-party delivery services has increased, and customers are able to have meals delivered from a wide variety of restaurants. While pizza delivery is still the most popular meal delivery, it has lost market share.

An issue affecting PIZZA PARK is the shortage of delivery drivers. Many people that were happily employed as pizza delivery drivers have since found opportunities as ride-share drivers or working for third-party delivery services. Those that have made the switch have cited the following reasons why working for a ride-share or third-party delivery service is a better option than working for pizza delivery:

- Ability to choose work hours/days
- Higher fuel reimbursement
- Ability to only be a driver and not have other restaurant duties

YOUR CHALLENGE

The president wants you to create incentives that will encourage more people to deliver pizzas for PIZZA PARK. The president then wants you to determine how to market PIZZA PARK and the new incentives to potential employees.
