

Top tips for successful native planting

Tip #1: Control pests and weeds before planting.

Consider... Don't waste time and money planting until you've controlled pests like deer, goats, wallabies and hares. These pests will destroy your new plants!

Decide your goal for pest control.

Try to collaborate with neighbours and other farms nearby so that your work has more impact.

Tip #2: Maintenance after planting is key to plant survival.

Maintaining moisture - Use weed mat or mulch, plant during wet times of the year, and irrigate if practical.

Weed and protect - Young plants are vulnerable to pests and weather. Release young plants from weeds by hand pulling or spraying. Plant sleeves provide protection from weather and herbivores.
