Pillars of Sacred Justice Lenten Series

These sessions will help rostered leaders empower their congregations for the work of justice in our jobs, churches, families, and communities.

The first four Thursdays of Lent at Noon EST will include the following topics:

- Pillars of Sacred Justice.
- Helping our congregants and communities understand the mechanisms of injustice and our call to the work of justice.
- Holy imagination and equipping for the nitty gritty of justice work in the story of Esther.
- Leading by example as churches in preventing, confronting, and healing from injustice.

Series Presenter:

Sarah Driver is a writer and trainer on the work of justice with a focus on biblical grounding and practical equipping. She has worked for 25 years at local, state, and international levels on a range of justice issues from education reform and gender equality to human trafficking and spiritual abuse. She has lived and worked on four continents and holds a master's degree in social policy and development from the London School of Economics.
