The Highland campus occupies a stunning cluster of heritage-listed buildings near the town of Forres. The Italianate buildings, constructed in the 1830s on the Altyre Estate, have been converted into a world-class creative campus, providing inspiring studio, workshop and exhibition spaces, as well as state of the art areas for research, teaching, prototyping and flexible lab work.

The campus is a centre for research and postgraduate study, where dedicated staff deliver Masters and PhD programmes that engage with complex issues facing the region and beyond.

The Highland Campus is located on the private Altyre Estate near Forres. It can be easily reached by car or taxi from Forres station and is approximately 45 minutes by car from Inverness station or airport.

The Glasgow School of Art promotes active travel to campus and provides bike and e-bike loans for local commuting to and from student accommodation in Forres. We also provide regular bus transport between the campus and student accommodation.

The Glasgow School of Art Highland campus buildings are wheelchair accessible throughout.
