

CHOCOLATE

Everybody loves Chocolate (well, 96.873% of everyone on planet earth does) and for good reason too. Chocolate flavors can range from warm and rich, to mellow and creamy; to delightfully bitter, smoky, and even fruity. The bitter cacao beans produce both the cocoa powder and cocoa butter the provides the base of all chocolates. Varying the amount of sugars and fats, along with the addition of other ingredients, give chocolate lovers the wide range of taste experiences they love. Available in both natural and artificial flavor systems, chocolates are a key flavor for many products.

VANILLA

Vanilla often gets a bad rap. "Plain Vanilla," they say with mocking in their voice, "Boring Old Vanilla." Well, that's just unfair. Vanilla may be subtle, but it is a powerful base flavor that accentuates the taste of so many good things. Clean, smooth, floral, buttery, are just a few of the adjectives that are frequently used with this popular flavor. Available in both natural and artificial flavor systems, silky soft vanillas are a required flavor across hundreds of product lines.

STRAWBERRY

In a word—summer. Strawberries exude the sweet, juicy, red-ripe, sun-drenched flavor of summer. The varying degrees of “delicious ripeness” makes strawberry flavors so versatile. Strawberry flavors are delicious as a tart, tangy, berry experience—as they are as a ripe, rich, creamy drink. Available in both natural and artificial flavor systems, wonderfully different strawberries are a “must have” to maximize product variety.

RASPBERRY

Picking fresh raspberries is almost as fun as eating them. These delectable summer gems come from a family of berries known as “Brambles” and there are as many varieties as there are tastes and colors: Cascade Delight, Boyne, Royal, Killarney, Fall Gold, just to name a few. If you can remember the experience of feasting on a bramble, we can help you re-create it. Available in both natural and N&A flavor systems.

BLUE RAZZ

Raspberry flavors are the “bomb!” (Seriously, they are. What do you think makes cherry bomb pop popsicles so darned good? Yep, the blue raspberry.) “Wait a minute,” you say, “Blue Raspberry isn’t even a real berry.” Fair enough, but that’s what makes raspberry flavors so amazingly versatile. Available in both natural and artificial flavor systems, Raspberry flavors (even make-believe ones) are a powerful flavor in your flavor library.

GRAPE

There is a reason that the humble grape has an entire industry built around its cultivation and processing. Grapes even get their own vocabulary! Name me one other fruit that has a special name for an expert (a sommelier) in the choosing the right “vintage” of fermented juice. Grape flavors can range from crisp whites, to jammy concords, to candy-licious treats. Available in both natural and artificial flavor systems, Grape flavors should have a reserved place on your flavor menu.

CANDY

Admit it. You have a favorite candy. We all do. Perhaps it's one of those brands of candy we aren't allowed so mention by name, so we call them other things like: "Red Chewy Fish" or "Sour Tart Gummy Bites." Or maybe it is a more old-school classic like: Cotton Candy or Bubble Gum. Either way, we've got lots of flavors available in both natural and artificial flavor systems. Yep, we've got your Candy crush flavors covered.
