

General Terms and Conditions

Thank you for choosing Kiron!

Kiron's products and services are provided by Kiron Open Higher Education uHG ("Kiron"). These General Terms and Conditions ("Terms") govern your use of all Kiron's websites (including <https://kiron.university>; <https://plan.kiron.university>; <http://interact.kiron.university>), apps, and other products and services ("Services").

As some of our Services may include software that is downloaded to your computer, phone, tablet, or other device, you agree that we may automatically update this software, and that these Terms will apply to such updates. Please read these Terms carefully, and contact us if you have any questions. By using our Services, you agree to be legally bound by these Terms, including the policies referenced in these Terms (such as our Privacy Policy).

Definition of the services provided by Kiron Kiron is not a university and as such will not personally issue a university degree. Whenever Kiron is referred to as a "university", or to described as a "university", this is not intended to suggest Kiron holding the legal status of a university, nor that it is accredit, nor that it gives university degrees. Rather, this is meant to express Kiron's role in helping students get access to a university degree, through one of Kiron's partner universities. Specifically, Kiron entertains binding partnerships with universities who will provide a degree to Kiron students on condition that 1) ALL of the academic requirements of Kiron have been met, and 2) ALL of the academic requirements of the respective partner university for the chosen degree have been met. Kiron attempts to give every student who fulfills 1) and 2) the opportunity to study at a partner university and is works to maintain and expand its network of partner universities and academic content.

Partner universities

Partner MOOCs

The online courses that are part of the curriculum at Kiron and linked to from Kiron are supplied by third party MOOC-platforms (i.e. Massive Open Online Course-platforms) and created by various authors and institutions. The courses are thus subject to unexpected change or erasure by one of abovementioned third parties, the decision for which lie out of Kiron's control.

Kiron selects MOOC courses that are eligible for attaining credits and a diploma (depending on partner university / degree) once the full Kiron trajectory has been completed. While the full Kiron trajectory is ideally 2 years (120 ECTS) of the Kiron-curriculum study of MOOC-courses and 1 year at a partner university (60 ECTS), more than 2 years (and more than 120 ECTS) of online study may be required in order to obtain sufficient ECTS in subject-specific courses. This is subject to chosen study program and partner university.

Once a student has successfully completed all online-courses required for the respective degree, Kiron will attempt to give said student the opportunity to physically attend one of Kiron's partner universities. There is no guarantee for this placement, nor that the student will get to study at his/her preferred partner university because the spots available at each institution are limited.

The completion of the courses and the attainment of the diploma are entirely dependent on the sole efforts of the student.

Online services

Kiron itself also provides certain online services (such as the intranet platforms <https://plan.kiron.university> and <http://interact.kiron.university>).

These services allow the students to participate in the courses provided by the MOOCs-partners in a manner that allows Kiron to recognize (on behalf of the partner universities) the ECTS obtained from completing MOOC courses, to be able to see which courses the students are enrolled in and to keep in touch with fellow students.

Other services

Finally, Kiron aspires to helping students adjust to their new environment and improving the student experience. To achieve this, Kiron attempts to provide additional services to these ends.

Using Kiron

Who May Use our Services

You may use our Services only if you can form a binding contract as a student, instructor or other type of user with Kiron, and only in compliance with these Terms and all applicable laws.

Students will additionally be subject to certain Eligibility Criteria as set out below, to have access to the academic content provided for by Kiron and its partners.

WHEN YOU CREATE YOUR KIRON ACCOUNT, AND SUBSEQUENTLY WHEN YOU USE CERTAIN FEATURES, YOU MUST PROVIDE US WITH ACCURATE AND COMPLETE INFORMATION, AND YOU AGREE TO UPDATE YOUR INFORMATION TO KEEP IT ACCURATE AND COMPLETE.

Eligibility Criteria for students

BY ACCESSING KIRON SERVICES, YOU CONFIRM THAT YOU ARE A “REFUGEE” (meaning that you are recognised by a government as having refugee status) OR THAT YOU ARE A “REFUGEE-APPLICANT” (meaning that are in the application process of being recognised as a refugee).

If you do not fall within either of these categories and attempt to make use of Kiron’s Services in an unpermitted manner, be aware that you may face legal consequences. This may among others lead to a violation of copyrights of partner universities such as Harvard University - the legal consequences of which must be borne by the student. Kiron is in no way accountable if this may occur.

Furthermore, Kiron discovers that you are not a refugee or that you are ineligible for our program, we may discontinue your user account including erasing all data. A ban from using any of Kiron’s services in the future may be enacted.

Change of status

Kiron is aware that your status as a refugee or refugee-applicant may alter during the period of study.

If refugee status is refused or withdrawn by a final government decision that is not open to appeal, access to Kiron's Services may be discontinued.

If refugee status is withdrawn for any reason whatsoever by a final government decision that is not open to appeal, it is up to Kiron's full discretion to decide whether the student may continue making use of Kiron's services. This decision will be based on objective, non-discriminatory and proportionate criteria such as (for example) academic results, amount of the academic trajectory completed, motivation of the student, practical possibilities, law in the country of residence of the student, partnership agreements etc.

If the refugee or refugee-applicant returns to its home country during the period of active study, Kiron engages to aid the student in acquiring homologation of the credits achieved through Kiron's Services via local Universities. This is a commitment of best efforts. Additionally, Kiron will have full discretion on a case-by-case basis to decide whether the returned-refugee(-applicant) may still have access to Kiron's Services. This decision will be based on objective criteria possibly including, but not limited to: academic results, amount of the academic trajectory completed, motivation of the student, practical possibilities, local law, German law, partner university rules, etc.

Our Courses

Academic Credit and Diploma's

Unless otherwise explicitly indicated by a credit-granting institution, mere participation in or completion of a course with one of Kiron's MOOC-partners does not confer any academic credit unless all of Kiron's academic requirements have been met. As set out above, students must complete the entire Kiron trajectory for their academic credits to be recognized by a partner university and to be eligible for a diploma from one of Kiron's partner universities.

Course Modifications

While we take pride in our world-class partnerships, unexpected events do occur. Kiron reserves the right to cancel, interrupt, or reschedule any course or to modify any course content or the point value or weight of any assignment, quiz, or other assessment. Courses offered are subject to the Disclaimers and Limitation of Liability sections below.

Kiron commits itself to do everything within its reasonable means to ensure that the User Content is solely used for the purposes of providing the Services described in these General Terms and Conditions.

Users agree to not hold MOOC platforms accountable for providing Kiron with this User Content and accept that this provision overrides potential information given in MOOC terms of service, which may claim to not share that data with other platforms.

This license includes granting Kiron the right to authorize participating institutions to use User Content with their registered students and on-campus learners independent of the Services.
