Dice & Derby

A Derby Day Game
Gather your horses & dice for an easy & fun game everyone can enjoy!

Objective

The goal of this game is simple; get your horse to the finish line in as few dice rolls as possible.

This game is an opportunity for children with autism to learn about:

- Counting
- Turn-taking
- Sharing

What You'll Need

- Game board: Print out our board or use a piece of paper with a custom amount of spaces on it to lengthen or shorten the game

- Player pieces: Print out our horse player pieces or use existing pieces from your favorite games

- Dice: One dice is best for our board, but feel free to use two if you make your own board

How to Play

- Place all the player pieces at the starting line

- The first player should roll the dice and move up the number of spaces the dice lands on

- Once their turn concludes, repeat with all other players until someone reaches the finish line

Possible Modifications

- Shorten or lengthen the game: create your own custom board on a piece of paper to fit the needs of those playing

- Multiple dice: multiple dice allow players to practice simple addition while playing the game

- Special dice rules: if playing with multiple dice, practice pairing by allowing double moves up when the dice roll doubles

- Add laps: adding laps to the game is another way to lengthen it and create a memory game as players need to recall which lap they are on
