

Media X Partners Inc./rikodi Privacy Policy

Date Created: January 1, 2023

rikodi is all about working together to build great things, by sharing information, working together, and recording memorable events, you create records that could last forever. Part of this process involves sharing information with us in order to make your experience better – by helping you join with friends and family, and giving you Content better suited to your needs. This document explains how and why we use your information and what your options are regarding the use of this information.

Sharing information online and using the Internet involves the use of terms like “cookies,” “IP addresses,” “pixel tags,” and “web beacons.” Before using this site (or other sites), you should familiarize yourself with these terms, so you know how you are interacting with sites and what information you may unknowingly be sharing when you browse the Internet. Your privacy and web security are important to us. If you have questions or would like to learn more, please click here.

Collecting information when you visit our site

By collecting and storing information, we are able to improve your experience on the site. This helps us remember you when you return and save a wide array of preferences.

There is more than one way that you provide information to us. When you type in information, or check a box, you understand that we are collecting that information, this information may be kept private between you and Rikodi, or it may be made public, shared only with friends, or shared with our affiliates or other entities. The level of privacy is determined by (1) the type of information, and (2) the level of privacy you request in your privacy settings.

We also collect information from your device automatically as your computer, phone or tablet interact with our apps and website.

Finally, we may collect information based on how you use our services and how you interact with our site. This may include tracking your search terms, which parts of the site you visit most frequently and how you get from one part of the site to another.

Rikodi does not knowingly collect any information provided by people under the age of 13. If we discover that information has been collected from someone under the age of 13, it will be deleted. This may result in termination of a user’s account.

What we do with that information

We use the information you provide us to help develop and improve the website. We may also use this information to make the site appear in a format that we think works best for you and to adjust the advertising that you see on the site.

The information you provide might also make the site more accessible and hopefully will improve your experience.

To the extent that you are making purchases of goods or services through the site, the information you provide will be used to process transactions. When you provide us information (including credit card information), we will keep the information on file for as long as we have a legitimate business purpose for it. In the case of credit card information, it may be stored for the duration of your paid subscription, and for up to 30 days after your subscription ends.

Media X Partners Inc./rikodi supports the use of Do Not Track (“DNT”) signals. By adjusting most browser settings, you can control whether your browser permits us to track you on our site in certain ways. If you turn on DNT in your browser, our site will not provide you with suggested books or tailored ads. DNT does apply to our applications displayed on third-party sites. Anonymous, non-personally identifiable data may still be collected. You must read the policies of any third-party sites and applications to determine their policy on the treatment of DNT signals.

Unless you explicitly provide otherwise, we won’t use this information for any purpose other than what’s provided in this Privacy Policy.

A Transparent Company

At eikodi, we want to be honest and open with you about how information is used so that you can make meaningful choices in reviewing and controlling how some information is stored and shared. We want you to know how your information is being used and how to opt out of allowing us to share certain information, including targeted advertising services, how to edit your account’s privacy settings to control who sees your information, and how to remove information from your account. You can obtain a list of the categories of information shared with third-parties for direct-marketing purposes by clicking here.

Most browsers come with settings to control what information is automatically shared with our website. You may adjust your browser settings so that your device shares less information with us, however, this could cause your experience on the site to be limited or reduced.

While we take reasonable steps to prevent your information from falling into the wrong hands, internet security can never be perfect. The absolute best way to prevent your information from being shared without your consent is to not put information online that you don’t want shared. If it would embarrass you, harm you physically or financially, or cause you to wind up in jail if the wrong people saw such information, then you shouldn’t put it online, and you agree to hold Rikodi harmless should that situation occur.

Your Account and Personal Information

We will provide you with access to your personal information. If anything is wrong, you should correct it. You may also remove content and some information. Once you’ve removed or changed something in your account, we’ll delete it from our server. However, in the interest of avoiding accidental deletion of data, a copy of the deleted information may remain in a backup server indefinitely. We may also keep copies of information you've removed for legal or business reasons. When deleting or altering certain information, you may need to verify your identity.

While we will always provide you with the right to review and alter your personal information, we reserve the right to refuse unreasonable requests regarding viewing and altering information (e.g. we may only allow you to view the information online (rather than mailing it to you); there may be times when the site is unavailable and you cannot access or modify your information; other restrictions could also apply).

What we share

Media X Partners, Inc./rikodi may acquire sensitive personally identifiable information about you, like medical information, racial or ethnic origins, political and religious beliefs and sexual orientation. We will only share this information with non-affiliated companies if you opt-in and provide your consent to share this information.

In order to make the site work, your information may be shared with domain administrators to change passwords, suspend or monitor account access, access or retain information, use statistics to track data, provide your information to governmental entities as required by law or requested by law enforcement or other governmental entity, or restrict or edit your information or privacy settings.

Some domain administrators may have differing policies on how they treat information. Please refer to those policies to determine how they treat your data.

We will share your information with our affiliates and employees in compliance with our Privacy Policy and with appropriate confidentiality as may be required to run the site.

We may share your information with advertisers. You may opt-out of our sharing certain information with advertisers should you desire by clicking here. Any advertising targeted to minors will not promote products or services that are dangerous, illegal for minors to obtain, or age-inappropriate (including, but not limited to, alcohol, tobacco, firearms, tanning, and tattoos).

Media X Partners, Inc./rikodi reserves the right to provide your personal information to governmental entities or decline to provide the information, at the election of Rikodi. Some reasons we may disclose personal information are in response to a subpoena, to assist law enforcement in investigating a crime or assisting in a search or rescue operation.

Media X Partners, Inc./rikodi may share non-personally identifiable data and statistics publically and with partners for legitimate business purposes.

In the case of a merger, Media X Partners, Inc./rikodi will ensure confidentiality of personal information and will make reasonable attempts to notify affected users prior to a transfer of personal information and prior to it becoming subject to a different privacy policy.

Security

We understand that your privacy is of utmost importance. Media X Partners, Inc./rikodi will use commercially reasonable measures to protect your information. However, it is possible that a flaw could result in your information becoming exposed and falling into the wrong hands. You agree to hold Media X Partners, Inc./rikodi harmless for any damages that result, should this ever occur. If we ever discover a data breach, we will contact you by email as soon as possible, and within 7 days of first learning of the breach.

Applicability

This Privacy Policy applies to your entire use of this site and all your interactions with Media X Partners, Inc./rikodi. This Policy works in conjunction with the Terms of Service and Community Guidelines to create a space for you to create and share your stories with others. These documents and the definitions contained therein are incorporated by reference.

This Privacy Policy has no effect, however, on how your information is handled by other sites you may visit on the internet, including third-party sites that are linked to on this site.

Compliance and Regulation

Media X Partners, Inc./rikodi works with regulatory agencies and authorities, as necessary, to resolve complaints regarding the transfer of data and reviews its policies, from time to time, to insure that our internal procedures are in compliance with this Privacy Policy. Rikodi is dedicated to responding to all complaints from users in a timely fashion.

Changes to this policy

We will obtain your explicit consent prior to reducing your rights under this Privacy Policy. We will post changes to this Policy and email notice of changes whenever possible. Previous versions will be kept for review, should you ever want to see a previous version.
