

Long-Term Stock Exchange Announces Connectivity & Technical Specifications for Upcoming Platform Refresh

The purpose of this announcement is to inform Members and other industry participants of activities relevant to connectivity and development for the new LTSE trading system.

Connectivity, order entry, drop copy, and proprietary market data feed specifications for the new system have been posted to the LTSE website for review. All new functionality is pending SEC approval.

LTSE has updated its website with revised FAQ answers based on the introduction of the new trading system.

Beginning on Monday, March 25, 2024, the Exchange will allow Members and those considering Membership access to the Pre-Production system. New physical connectivity will be required to access the Pre-Production system. The updated Connectivity Specification document is available on the LTSE website along with the order forms. Please submit requests to Market Operations in order to initiate the process. Those who have established connectivity will be able to enter orders on the Exchange using test symbols only, as well as receive messages via drop copy sessions, LTSE proprietary data feeds, and the test SIPs. The Exchange plans to offer multiple weekend testing opportunities starting in April (schedule forthcoming).

Exchange Support

To contact the Exchange, please reference the below

Questions	Contact Email
Trading and Market Operations	marketops@longtermstockexchange.com

To reach the Exchange by phone, please call 813-575-2602.

Please see our FAQs for further detail regarding Exchange operational information.