

Shown below are the fuel surcharge percentages that UNIS Transportation applies to net freight charges. The surcharges are based on the U.S. average fuel cost per gallon as published by the U.S. Department of Energy (the only exception being intrastate California shipments, the surcharges for which are based on the California index).

The DOE fuel indices are updated and available at the DOE website:

<https://www.eia.gov/petroleum/gasdiesel/>. The fuel indices provided by the DOE are the industry standards used by most transportation companies. UNIS Transportation's applicable surcharges become effective on the Wednesday immediately following each Monday unless Monday is a holiday, and then the fuel index is available from the DOE on Tuesday and UNIS's fuel surcharges become effective on the immediately following Thursday.

NOTE A: When the weekly U.S. Department of Energy's average price of diesel fuel reaches $7.01 per gallon and beyond, the LTL fuel surcharge will continue to increase 0.2% for every 2-cent increase of fuel price.

NOTE B: When the weekly U.S. Department of Energy's average price of diesel fuel reaches $7.01 per gallon and beyond, the TL fuel surcharge will continue to increase 0.3% for every 2-cent increase of fuel price.

EXCEPTIONS: In the event of extraordinary circumstances, such as acts of local, state, or Federal Governments, acts of public enemy or war, acts of God such as extreme weather conditions, floods, blizzards, earthquakes, hurricanes, tornadoes, or any other natural disaster or phenomenon, the Fuel

Surcharge will be subject to change on a daily basis.
