COLLABORATION WITH AVETTA

Antea Group has been in a partnership with Avetta since 2003. Throughout our long-standing collaboration, we have helped them achieve better business outcomes as well as improve overall risk management and compliance posture. The key to this has been ensuring that their contractors and suppliers meet the highest standards for health, safety, quality, and sustainability.

This includes maintaining a database of more than 200 contractors and suppliers, evaluating their performance and risk levels, and tracking their compliance with all necessary regulations. This has helped them demonstrate a serious commitment to corporate stewardship, improve their reputation, and reduce costs associated with non-compliant contractors and suppliers.

“After working with Avetta for many years, I see our partnership as more than just a client-vendor relationship. They are now an integral part of our organization.”

We are delighted with their real-time response to our questions, needs, and feedback. What's even better is, their tool is easy to use, scalable, flexible, and works perfectly to help us improve supply chain sustainability.”

BENEFITS EXPERIENCED

Antea Group needed to transform its supplier management system including insurance coverage as the existing process was labor-intensive and complex. Often, its clients considered Antea Group accountable for safety on sites; incidents happened. But Antea Group could not assess the competence they had in place owing to limited visibility into the qualifications of companies onsite.

To address these challenges, it became important for Antea Group to regularly review and update supplier management and on-site safety monitoring processes and ensure that they are effective, efficient, and compliant with current regulations and standards. This necessitated implementing modern tools and systems, such as digital platforms and software that could help improve transparency, risk management, and communication within the supply chain. And that's when Antea Group leveraged Avetta's SSO, Insurance Monitoring, and Insurance Process Enhancement offerings.

This helped the client unlock the following benefits:

Improved data access management:

Eliminating the single login shared across the entire company made it easier to access critical supplier data without any security concerns.

Efficient supplier insurance processes:

Risk management typically involved manually assigning each supplier company its unique insurance requirements and limits. This consumed significant time and left room for errors and miscommunication. By replacing manual insurance tagging for suppliers with a digital questionnaire, their insurance expectations were automatically assigned and uploaded into the system. This also standardized the key compliance metrics related to insurance as well as optimized time utilization and transparency.

Enhanced supply chain processes:

As an additional means of prompting the client's review of safety performances with variance, we ensured that the suppliers complete a client-decided corrective action log to provide all incident details upfront to be considered during their variance approval process..

Transparent communication:

To stay on top of program goals, key client stakeholders engaged with our team monthly to discuss account opportunities and supplier feedback.

Based on supplier feedback and the client's desire to further strengthen our partnership, we have also gained approval to proceed with the following introductions to their system usage:

Code of conduct
acknowledgment

ESG
questionnaire

Diversity reporting

Contractor agreement
storage capabilities

A successful supply chain is a well-oiled machine, and a key component of that machine is a strong partnership with a reliable service provider like Avetta. By working together with their team, we have overcome most of our supplier management challenges and achieved business-critical goals.
