Bringing Security and Compliance Together

ABOUT US

As cybersecurity has become more critical and compliance mandates have matured, many organizations find themselves challenged to efficiently manage the overlap between these two crucial organizational activities. Despite security and compliance goals being more closely aligned than ever, it's not uncommon to see security and compliance teams operating independently. This separation duplicates effort, leading to increased resource demands, costs, and reduced efficiencies.

For over 20 years, VikingCloud has been a leader in helping organizations achieve their security and compliance goals. From the early days of cybersecurity to the origins of compliance mandates like PCI DSS, VikingCloud has monitored the evolution and provided solutions that bridge the gap between security and compliance.
