San Francisco is the global capital of technological innovation and entrepreneurship. ELI is proud to offer a one-of-a-kind Business English for Entrepreneurs course that supports entrepreneurs and executives with their innovative projects while improving their spoken and written English skills.

Students will learn about the principles of innovation in Silicon Valley, work to develop a concept, conduct market research, and create and implement a business plan. The curriculum is project based and students will practice pitching their ideas to investors and other business professionals in English at the end of the course.

Field trips to world-famous startups and incubators, guest presentations from Silicon Valley entrepreneurs and networking events with professionals from around the world are included in this course, as well as access to ELI electives.

“The Business English for Entrepreneurs program supports students in developing English communications and business skills. Students learn by doing a complete exercise of start-up company creation. Being in San Francisco, the heart of Silicon Valley where everything happens first, is so exciting. Meeting founders and taking trips to places like Uber and Runway are impressive. This course is the way to empower your startup dreams or next career challenge.”
