

Legal frameworks, products and services are critical to aligning finance flows consistent with net zero.

The law can — and must — enable a just and equitable transition.

01 Commit

The NZLA commitment is the gateway to the alliance.

It broadly consists of the following:

- › Set emissions reduction targets in line with Net Zero / 1.5°C.
- › Provide climate-related pro bono services through NZLA.
- › Set targets for capacity building and provision of net-zero aligned advice.

02 Capacity

Preparing lawyers to be part of the solution.

Once in the alliance, members undergo capacity building.

Key NZLA capacity building tools cover climate science, the intersection of climate change and different practice areas and advising on climate-related risk and opportunity.

The NZLA runs capacity building workshops and monthly Steering Group meetings where ideas can be shared between stakeholders, partners and members.

03 Convert

Breaking down barriers and unlocking net-zero legal aligned advice

Members participate in NZLA Accelerator Groups focused at breaking down legal barriers to transition and using the law to create the enabling environment for transition to occur.

Accelerator Groups are selected against impact criteria, including the centrality of law as a problem and solution, complexity and momentum to provide a solution and drive systemic change.

Accelerator groups include:

Antitrust	Project Finance
Fiduciary Duties	International Trade Law

NZLA members take on pro bono requests from stakeholders, such requests often fall under one of the accelerator group focus areas.
