This marks the first time since 2019 that Australia has hosted the opening race.The Albert Park circuit in Melbourne is known for its variable weather conditions, with temperatures ranging from 35C to 15C depending on the wind direction. The track itself is not permanent and can be quite different from one day to another, making it challenging for teams to set up their cars. The track has undergone some changes since last year, including the removal of a slow chicane and the addition of a fast section.The key sectors of the track are the high-speed corners 9/10, the slow chicane 11/12, and the final sector which is relatively slow but can be critical in terms of lap time. The car's setup will need to be perfect for the last two corners (15 and 16) where speed is crucial.The teams that seem to be in a strong position ahead of the first race are McLaren, Ferrari, Red Bull, and Mercedes, with Max Verstappen saying that Red Bull is looking good after the Bahrain tests.Le calendrier F1 2025 sera une saison longue de 24 courses pour clbrer le 75me anniversaire de la Formule 1.
