

Huddle up

CASE STUDY

Prince George's County

Prince George's County

About

Prince George's County (PGC) is one of the nation's 20th largest school districts and the second-largest school system in the state of Maryland. The school system serves a diverse student population from urban, suburban and rural communities located in the Washington, DC suburbs. Prince George's County's collaboration with DotCom Therapy originated in a pilot program. Encouraged by its success, they opted to broaden the scope of services throughout their educational domain.

15,000

Special Education
Students Supported

200

Individual
Schools

Challenge

Prince George's County grappled with meeting the needs of their special education population, echoing a widespread challenge across schools

61%

of U.S. States identified
special education
challenges as one of their greatest needs

100%

of MD School Districts need help to recruit and retain teachers in special education

6

Year Partnership

50+

Schools Served

87%

Provider Growth

20K+

Sessions Delivered In 2023/24

~2.3K

Teachers & Staff Supported

Dream Team Care Team

We deliver a team-based care model and ensure continuity of care

Surround Sound Support

We connect the community to care by supporting families and teachers, too

Real Results

We make data-driven decisions that prioritize the needs of the student first, as well as impact to the entire population

“

Many times individuals will say that your zip code determines your options as far as school goes, and therefore your success. But our partnership with Huddle up gives everyone the right zip code, and gives everyone the opportunity to have access.

Keith Blackson
Coordinating Supervisor at PGC

Thank you!