The adult entertainment industry's biggest stars stunned on the red carpet at the 2025 AVN Awards in Las Vegas, bringing shock value and outrageous fashion choices. The ceremony, dubbed "the Oscars of porn," was hosted by comedian Steph Tolev, along with adult stars Blake Blossom and Alex Knight. Pop star Jason DeRulo performed as the musical guest. Anna Claire Clouds took home the top prize for Female Performer of the Year, flaunting her curves in a sheer lace bustier and long white satin skirt. Maitland Ward won Best Actress in a Featurette after previously winning a similar award at the XBIZ XMAs in Hollywood. Other notable attendees included Angela White, known as "the Meryl Streep of porn," who opted for a modest yet elegant floor-length black gown with a high neck. Brina Scarlett and Rae West showed off their cleavage on the carpet, while OnlyFans star Lily Phillips turned heads in a backless black gown. Madame Morgan brought drama to the red carpet in a striking black gown, and Lexi Nicole and Tee Tee Pawgattens weren't shy about their wardrobe choices. Babe Ariel let her tattoos do the talking, while Juicy Pomma had one of the more outrageous looks of the night. Priya Rai switched things up with cowboy boots and a hat. Veteran porn performer Seka Black brought vintage glamour to the red carpet in a glitzy red gown with long gloves. Lily, a 23-year-old OnlyFans star, is caught in a feud with her former friend Bonnie Blue over claims of intellectual property theft. Bonnie accused Lily of trying to break the world sex record by sleeping with 1,000 men, an idea allegedly stolen from her. The two have managed to avoid each other at recent AVN events, but their rivalry remains intense. Meanwhile, several adult stars and performers, including Maitland Ward, Seka Black, Emma Starseed, and more, walked the red carpet in glamorous outfits. Despite Lily's hopes of winning a fan-voted award, Mama Plugs took home the trophy instead. AVN co-host Blake Blossom discussed the competitive nature of the industry, revealing her own goals to collect awards like Pokémons. According to Peter Warren, managing editor of AVN, there is a long-standing myth that after winning the Best New Starlet award, an individual's career often collapses, known as the Best New Starlet Curse. However, he notes that this curse is not universally applicable, citing examples such as Blake, Abella Danger, Chanel Camryn, and Stormy Daniels, who have all defied this supposed curse. The AVN Awards ceremony has been held annually to honor outstanding achievements in the adult entertainment industry, with past ceremonies taking place on January 8, 2011, January 21, 2012, and January 19, 2013, at various venues in Las Vegas, including the Palms Casino Resort and the Hard Rock Hotel and Casino. The awards have been presented in numerous categories, recognizing excellence in movies and products released within specific timeframes, and have been hosted by comedians such as Lisa Lampanelli, Dave Attell, and April Macie, alongside co-hosts from the adult entertainment industry. The 31st AVN Awards, held on January 18, 2014, continued this tradition, honoring the best of 2013 and featuring hosts including Asa Akira, who won Female Performer of the Year. Despite the myth surrounding the Best New Starlet award, many winners have gone on to achieve success in their careers, demonstrating that the curse is not a guaranteed outcome. Rebekah Kochan, Chanel Preston, and Samantha Saint co-hosted the AVN Awards, which honored the best adult movies and products from October 1, 2014 to September 30, 2015, at the Hard Rock Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas. The ceremony took place on January 23, 2016, with Adult Video News presenting awards in 115 categories. The following year, Kate Quigley co-hosted the show for the first time, joined by Joanna Angel and Anikka Albrite, to honor the best adult movies and products from October 1, 2015 to September 30, 2016. The ceremony took place on January 21, 2017. In 2018, Aspen Rae and Riley Reid co-hosted the show for the first time, with comedian Colin Kane serving as master of ceremonies, to honor the best adult movies and products from October 1, 2016 to September 30, 2017. The ceremony took place on January 27, 2018.
