Ice Spice Denies Involvement in Sex Tape Leak on Social Media Ice Spice Responds to Allegations of Leaked Sex Tape A Bronx-born rapper, Ice Spice, denied being involved in a leaked sex tape. Some speculated she was featured in an NSFW video shared online. Other users came to her defense, calling out those who might have leaked the content and expressed their disapproval for ruining someone's reputation. Despite not being present in the videos, they urged respect for her privacy. Those spreading rumors claimed that whoever released the tape would face consequences. Drake has unfollowed Ice Spice on Instagram, sparking speculation about their relationship after he co-signed her song last month. The two were seen together in Toronto and allegedly exchanged messages after her split from husband Ice Spice at the BET awards. However, Ice Spice has denied rumors of a romantic encounter, focusing instead on establishing herself in the rap scene. The 22-year-old rapper initially gained fame through a viral TikTok video that went live with the 'Buss It' challenge in 2021.
