I'm not a bot

Cracking the pm interview github

Cracking the PM Interview is a comprehensive guide to landing a product management role in startups or bigger tech companies. The book covers various aspects of the job, including understanding the ambiguously-named “PM” (product manager / program manager) role, experiences needed, and how to make existing experience translate. It also delves into creating a great PM resume and cover letter, and mastering the interview questions. Spend less time figuring out how to advance your career as a Product Manager (PM) so you can focus on the areas that matter most. This information helps PMs understand what's expected of them and how to develop their skills, making it easier for mentors to give actionable feedback. A video from May 10, 2018, at the Product Conference explains how to ace a Product Manager interview. The speaker, Gayle, shares insights on how top companies like Google, Amazon, and Microsoft approach interviews, including the types of questions they ask (such as estimation, behavioral, case, product, technical, and pitch questions). She also discusses what experience is needed for PM roles across different companies and how to tailor your existing experience to these positions. Gayle McDowell, founder and CEO of CareerCup, has a strong background in software engineering at Google, Microsoft, and Apple, and extensive interviewing experience on both sides of the table. She has interviewed candidates for top firms like Google, Amazon, and IBM. Product School is an educational institution offering courses in Product Management, Coding, Data Science, and Blockchain. Our instructors are experienced product managers from leading tech companies. The school's part-time programs fit into your work schedule, with campuses located worldwide, including Silicon Valley, New York, Los Angeles, and London. In addition to classes, our campuses host weekly events featuring top industry professionals discussing Product Management, Data Science, Coding, and Blockchain. You can find more information on upcoming courses and events here: or . Product leaders from local tech companies visit our campuses each week to provide insights into critical management issues through lectures and panel discussions. Get your copy of The Product Book here: which offers advice on becoming a great Product Manager. On September 10, 2019, Jackie Bavaro presented at Product School about the PM role, APM internships, and how to determine if this career path is right for you. Find her slides with speaker notes here: id.gc6f919934_0_20. For more information on Cracking the PM Interview, check out this resource: . to deliver and maintain our services and site, improve the quality of Reddit, personalize content and advertising, and measure the effectiveness of advertising. By rejecting non-essential cookies, Reddit may still use certain cookies to ensure the platform's proper functionality. For more information, see our Cookie Notice and Privacy Policy. You currently have an active session in another tab or window. Reload to refresh your session. You switched accounts in another tab or window. Reload to refresh your session. Dismiss this alert. You can now clone this repository at