Tournoi petit as 2025

The Petit As tennis competition was founded in 1982 by Claudine and Jean-Claude Knaebel. It has discovered the greatest champions of the small yellow ball, including Michael Chang, Gal Monfils, Jo-Wilfried Tsonga, Roger Federer, Martina Hingis, Anna Kournikova, Amie Mauresmo, Kristina Mladenovic, and Caroline Garcia, among others. The event has undergone a naming change from Lacoste to Petit As, aiming to accelerate its international development through 40 qualifying tournaments in France and international playoffs in the United States and Asia. During the competition at Tarbes, nearly 350 young talents were welcomed at the Exhibition Park. Wilson will be the official supplier of balls, rackets, shoes, and textiles for the tournament. The American group refers to being a major partner in numerous competitions, including two Grand Slam tournaments: Roland-Garros and the US Open. Information about the Petit As can be found here; visitors are invited to the Exhibition Park for the most prestigious junior tennis tournament worldwide, free of charge. From January 16th to 26th, the sizzling yellow balls will bring together passionate and curious individuals around the Exhibition Park for the Petit As, an international event. The competition began with a simple family meal. Jean-Claude Knaebel, a businessman, is the founder of Bigourdan, which brought Leclerc distribution to Bigorre (ont...). For 10 days, 50 delegations, over 350 participants, including the most promising young players from around the world, will compete in the tournament. These young players are worth keeping an eye on, as they will likely become international tennis stars in just five years. Tarbes is a partner of this tournament that has given birth to many great tennis stars worldwide. The city actively contributes to the success of the event by providing financial, logistical, and human resources, making it an indispensable partner in the manifestation. The returns in terms of economy and image contribute to the radiance of our city in the world. The highlights of the 2025 edition: matches, matches, and matches! A free Anniversary Gala with presentations of the 50 delegations, 180 volunteers, lyce students from Sde and Saint-Pierre, and medal distribution by Grard Trmge, Mayor of Tarbes, followed by the "Dances of Love" spectacle with Balla Ya, Dans61, DansEvasion, Espace Danse, Evi Danse, Jump Around, media Luna, Le Renc'art de la Danse, and Studio 8. In the girls' singles final, Ekaterina Dotsenko from Russia defeated Darina Matvejeva from Latvia. In the boys' singles final, Mario Vukovic, a Franco-Serbian player, won against American Tristan Ascenzo, ending an 11-year drought for French players at the Petit As.
