2024 marks the second season of F1 Academy, but year two of the all-female championships looks a bit different with new rules, drivers and liveries. The inaugural season consisted of seven rounds with 15 drivers and it was Marta Garcia who was crowned the first ever F1 Academy champion. Now, F1 Academy is back for 2024, its second season, but things look a little different. So here is everything you need to know about the 2024 season of F1 Academy. Championship Rules F1 Academy is an all-female racing series with the aim to aid women in their progression up the single-seater ladder. At the helm is Susie Wolff, the Managing Director, who not only helped F1 Academy come into fruition but has developed initiatives, such as Discover Your Drive, to increase female participation in motorsport. However, Wolff has also helped F1 Academy gain the support of all 10 Formula 1 teams. For 2024, each F1 team will back and support an F1 Academy driver. This means that the drivers will be part of the team's driver academies and they will also run the F1 teams' liveries. With F1 taking a more active role in the series, all-female racing is expected to grow as this season. The 2024 season will consist of 10 rounds, with each round having two race weekends. The calendar for 2024 is as follows: Round One - Jeddah Corniche Circuit, Saudi Arabia 21-23; Round Two - Barcelona-Catalunya, Spain 29-31; Round Three - Yas Viceroy Circuit, Abu Dhabi 29-31; Round Four - Silverstone, United Kingdom 5-7; Round Five - Marina Bay Street Circuit, Singapore 29-31; Round Six - Jeddah Corniche Circuit, Saudi Arabia 21-23; Round Seven - Yas Viceroy Circuit, Abu Dhabi 29-31; Round Eight - Silverstone, United Kingdom 5-7; Round Nine - Jeddah Corniche Circuit, Saudi Arabia 21-23; Round Ten - Jeddah Corniche Circuit, Saudi Arabia 21-23. Each round will consist of two race weekends. The first race weekend will feature a Super Licence Points race followed by a Formula 1 race. The second race weekend will feature a Formula 1 race followed by a Super Licence Points race. The points allocation follows that of Formula 1. The top 10 classified drivers will receive points with 25 for first, 18 for second, 15 for third and so on. F1 Academy also offers two points for the drivers who take pole position in Race 1 and Race 2. Another point is up for grabs for fastest lap; however this is only awarded if the driver finishes in the top 10 and if they've completed more than 50% of the race distance. There is a point for fastest lap available in each race. Weekend Format The weekend format for F1 Academy has changed from last year as well. In 2024, there are up to two 40-minute free practice sessions followed by one 30-minute qualifying session. Qualifying is different compared to 2023 as the drivers' first fastest laps are what set the grid for Race 1 whilst their second fastest laps set the grid for Race 2. There are only two races over a race weekend this year and each race is 30 minutes in length. The Calendar F1 Academy still consists of seven rounds this year but they are all on Formula 1 weekends. There are only two circuits from last season to return to the calendar for 2024, which are Zandvoort and Barcelona. The other races are occurring in Asia and North America. The calendar this year is spread out over 10 months, beginning in March and ending in December, and the schedule looks like this: March 7-9: Round One - Jeddah Corniche Circuit, Saudi Arabia 21-23; Round Two - Barcelona-Catalunya, Spain 29-31; Round Three - Yas Viceroy Circuit, Abu Dhabi 29-31; Round Four - Silverstone, United Kingdom 5-7; Round Five - Marina Bay Street Circuit, Singapore 29-31; Round Six - Jeddah Corniche Circuit, Saudi Arabia 21-23; Round Seven - Yas Viceroy Circuit, Abu Dhabi 29-31; Round Eight - Silverstone, United Kingdom 5-7; Round Nine - Jeddah Corniche Circuit, Saudi Arabia 21-23; Round Ten - Jeddah Corniche Circuit, Saudi Arabia 21-23.
