Linkin Park's debut album "Hybrid Theory" revolutionized rock music when it was released on October 24, 2000. Twenty years later, the band is re-releasing an anniversary edition featuring original tracks, unreleased songs like "pictureboard", and demos from two decades ago. The limited-edition box set includes a book, cassette tape, poster of Chester Bennington, lithographs, and replica tour laminate. A portion of the proceeds will support Music For Relief, which has raised over $9 million for natural disaster victims worldwide. The album's impact on music is undeniable - it defined a generation by combining alternative rock, hip-hop, and electronic elements. "Hybrid Theory" was officially certified 12 times platinum by the RIAA, with singles like "Crawling", "In the End", and "One Step Closer". The anniversary edition is now available to stream on Spotify and Apple Music. Linkin Park World Tour 2025 Arrives at Wembley Stadium in June The renowned rock band Linkin Park is set to take the stage at London's Wembley Stadium on June 28, 2025, as part of their From Zero World Tour. With a career spanning over two decades, Linkin Park has established itself as a trailblazing musical force, boasting an impressive discography that includes RIAA Diamond-certified albums Hybrid Theory and Meteora. The band's extensive catalog has garnered numerous accolades, including two GRAMMY Awards, five American Music Awards, four MTV VMA Awards, 10 MTV Europe Music Awards, and three World Music Awards. With worldwide sales exceeding 100 million, Linkin Park remains one of the best-selling artists of the past twenty years. Recent releases have solidified the band's position in the music industry, including their 2023 Meteora 20th Anniversary Edition, which topped charts with the newly-uncovered song 'Lost', and their 2024 greatest hits package Papercuts. The latest single 'The Emptiness Machine' made a rapid climb to No. 1 on both the Billboard Mainstream Rock Airplay Chart and Alternative Airplay Chart. As part of their From Zero World Tour, Linkin Park will be joined by special guests Spiritbox and JPEGMAFIA at Wembley Stadium. The show marks Linkin Park's only UK headline performance in 2025, cementing a new landmark in the band's evolving history. Park's song "Up From The Bottom" takes the top spot on Mediabase alternative radio chart this week, with a total of ~2,032 spins during the tracking period. This marks a two-place increase for the band. Meanwhile, Sombri's "back to friends" rises three places to #3, and Shinedown's "Three Six Five" remains at #4. Jack White's "Archbishop Harold Holmes" jumps up three places to #5. Additionally, Doechii's "Anxiety" spends its third week as the #1 song on Pop Radio. Other notable chart movements include Ariana Grande's "Twilight Zone" entering the Top 10 at Pop Radio, and Kendrick Lamar & AzChike's "Peekaboo" reaching #1 on Rhythmic Radio Chart. In other music news, Ros & Bruno Mars' "APT." holds onto its spot as the #1 Global YouTube Music Videos Chart for the 31st week. Linkin Park's massive world tour for 2025 includes a stop at London's Wembley Stadium, marking the band's first stadium shows in Tokyo and Mexico City since 2017. The tour is an extension of their ongoing 'From Zero' tour, which kicked off earlier this year with new album 'From Zero', featuring Emily Armstrong as frontwoman. The band has also shared several singles and embarked on live shows following the release of their latest album. Linkin Park's massive world tour includes stops in North America, Europe, Asia, and Latin America, with special guests Queens of the Stone Age, Spiritbox, AFI, Architects, Grandson, Jean Dawson, JPEGMAFIA, and PVRIS. Tickets for US shows go on sale next Thursday (November 21), while European dates commence on Friday (November 22). Pre-sale options are also available to members of the underground fan club from November 18. Linkin Park announces world tour in support of new album 'From Zero' Linkin Park is hitting the road for a massive world tour in support of their upcoming album "From Zero". The band will perform at various iconic venues across North America and Europe, including Wembley Stadium in London, TD Garden in Boston, and Barclays Center in Brooklyn. The tour kicks off on August 1st and features multiple shows at various locations, with dates spanning from July to September. The lineup includes support from notable bands such as Queens of the Stone Age, Spiritbox, AFI, Architects, Grandson, and PVRIS. Lead vocalist Mike Shinoda expressed his excitement about the tour, stating that the fans' support has been "overwhelming" and that he's ready to take this energy even further around the world. The news of the tour comes just hours after a mysterious post appeared on Wembley Stadium's X/Twitter hinting at an upcoming Linkin Park appearance. The band's comeback was announced in September with a livestream event, where they revealed the addition of Emily Armstrong as their new co-vocalist. Drummer Colin Brittain has also joined the group, replacing founding member Rob Bourdon. Linkin Park's comeback was met with mixed emotions following Chris Bennington's passing. The band aimed to "start anew" by embarking on a live tour, with Mike Shinoda emphasizing that this incarnation of the group wasn't about erasing their past but rather embracing a fresh chapter. During one of these shows at London's O2 Arena in September 2024, Emily Armstrong took center stage. A new album titled "From Zero" received a three-star review from NME, describing it as an intriguing blend of high-energy stadium rock and underwhelming songwriting. The publication acknowledged the band's decision to revive their name, suggesting that comparisons to their previous work should be viewed in context: "From Zero" is seen as a reboot, inspired by the group's desire to create together once more. Despite some missteps, the album showcases Linkin Park's continued relevance and elite songwriting capabilities.
