

Continue

Sensitive content warning: viewer discretion advised. This entry is part of a series on Jack Doherty, a content creator known for controversy and prank videos. Jack Doherty and McKinley Richardson sex tape leak refers to a viral video allegedly showing the pair engaging in intimate activity. The video surfaced on X in February 2024, sparking reactions from fans and followers. The leaked footage features Jack Doherty and his model girlfriend McKinley Richardson, who has been an Instagram influencer. The video's spread was attributed to Jack Doherty's recent rise to fame due to a feud with Andrew Tate and some of his prank videos gone wrong. Social media platforms like X witnessed a surge in views and reactions within 24 hours of the leak. Users shared their opinions on Jack Doherty's potential reaction to the leaked video, with some speculating he might be celebrating its spread. This incident has been added as an entry in the series about Jack Doherty, which also includes information on other viral content related to him and his associates. Jack Doherty, a popular streamer, has gained unwanted attention after an explicit video featuring him and his girlfriend McKinley Richardson leaked online. This isn't the first time they've dealt with leaks; another video meant for Richardson's OnlyFans account surfaced last month. In response to the latest leak, Doherty joked about getting "leaked twice" on Twitter. Richardson encouraged fans to visit her account for more content following the leak, leading some to speculate that the leak was a publicity stunt. Doherty has made a name for himself online and has been doing so for some time. A resurfaced clip shows Logan Paul praising Doherty when he was just 15 years old. In the clip, Doherty reveals that he recently bought his first home in Tennessee and surprised Paul with his financial knowledge. Jack Doherty and his girlfriend's explicit video leaked for the second time in less than a month. He responded on social media, saying "Didn't know u could get LEAKED twice," accompanied by laughing and crying emojis, and tagged his girlfriend. Both Richardson and Jack seemed unfazed by the video leak, with Richardson even encouraging her fans to check out her OnlyFans. Some netizens questioned the authenticity of the alleged leak, believing it was a publicity stunt to promote their OnlyFans content. One user wrote, "I really don't think they are doing anything, and this is all for publicity." Another expressed doubts about the couple's relationship. This article's edit history spans from December 27, 2024, to April 8, 2025, with multiple contributors including LiterallyAustin, Mateus, and Zach, who made changes on February 20, 2024, among others. The original content was first created by Brandon on February 20, 2024. The article falls under a license that allows for commercial use, modification, and distribution, requiring only attribution to the original creators if changes are made.