Whether you're an old fan or new enthusiast, witnessing Cigarettes After Sex live is a must-see event.Recent concert reviews from the band highlight their captivating performances. One reviewer noted that the live show was "beyond gut-wrenchingly beautiful" and praised the fan base for being considerate and supportive.Rough housing (yeah, I know, grandma vibes, but I'm only 24 lol), 10/10 recommend! Attended multiple concerts, each one leaving me in awe. Magical experiences that made me feel at peace during those hours. They're so talented and genuine, sharing their music with passion. Perfect for a loved one or friends to enjoy together. Basel was my first concert ever; it was fantastic with friends. Amsterdam had an amazing night, despite some organizational issues. Athens' concert was incredible, but the long wait time left me frustrated. Salt Lake City's event was magical, except for the rowdy teenagers. Greenwood Village made my top 2 concerts list; I'm always in awe of their shows. Portland's crowd and performance were equally amazing.Seattle, WA@Climate Pledge ArenaThe event was visually appealing to attend and be a part of. Although it received three stars due to some issues, the show ended strong with an impressive low-tech light display. However, there were a few factors that detracted from the experience. The scheduled start time was 8:00 PM, but they didn't begin until 9:00 PM. There was no opening act, and it felt like an eternity before Cigarettes took the stage.Once they started, the sound system was problematic, with distorted bass that was almost unbearable for a while. It took a few songs for the issue to be resolved somewhat. Houston, TX@Toyota CenterThe event in Houston was enjoyable, despite being a bit short for the price of the tickets. The crowd wasn't dead, and everyone seemed to have a great time singing along and cheering together.Amsterdam, Netherlands@AFAS LiveThe band sounded fantastic, but there were some issues that detracted from the experience. The doors opened at 6:30 PM, and the show was supposed to start at 7:30 PM. However, they didn't take the stage until 8:45 PM. This led to a lot of uncertainty and boredom for the attendees.Additionally, the fan base seemed quite obnoxious, with people screaming and talking throughout the concert. The stage presence was also underwhelming, with minimal lighting and seemingly uncoordinated performances. New York City, NY@Forest Hills StadiumThis event was memorable, as it was the attendee's first show ever. They played all their favorite songs, and the attendee even received a drumstick from Jacob.Tel Aviv, Israel@Hangar 11The event in Tel Aviv featured a 45-minute video with a rainy beach scene, redundant background music, and occasional subtitles. Although the video had technical issues, the band was awesome. However, they only played for an hour and 15 minutes, including a two-song encore. It was an early night, with lights out by 10:15 PM.Covington, KY@Madison TheaterThe attendee loved the music but felt that the event was slightly lacking due to some issues.I recently had mixed experiences with Cigarettes After Sex at various concerts. While the band's minimalist show in Oakland, CA was too short for my liking, their live performance elsewhere was exceptional. The lead singer had great stage presence and attitude, making the event feel more engaging. In contrast, their intimate music at the Jakarta concert seemed out of place in a large, empty venue with poor acoustics.Their latest show in Los Angeles was a different story altogether. The band's sound was superb live, and the atmosphere was fantastic. The visuals on stage added to the overall experience.However, there were some issues with their performance at The Van Buren concert. The wait time was lengthy, and the lighting made it difficult to see the band. Additionally, the crowd seemed bored initially, but gained energy towards the end.Despite these flaws, I still enjoyed Cigarettes After Sex's music immensely. Their concerts may not be for everyone, especially considering their short duration and high ticket prices.
