Breakfast/Get ready for an awesome day! And yes, change out of PJs :)8am - 9amAssuming you’ve gotten a good night of sleep, your thinking will be sharpest in the morning so let’s start the day strong with some math! Whoo hoo!Khan Academy math practice has got your back. Our new Get ready for grade level courses are perfect for the start of a new school year with their focus on the essential math skills you will need for your upcoming school year.Course challenges and unit tests can be used to accelerate through material. If you don’t have too many gaps, you should be able to get through a previous year’s content in 1-3 hours. If you do have gaps, it may take a bit longer, but that is good! This is your chance to fill in those gaps that might otherwise hold you back in the future.Once you have mastered the Getting ready course, you can move on to your grade level course. Try to set a goal of leveling up at least 3 skills a week.You’ll see that if you are able to put in at least a solid 30 minutes a day of math practice and keep leveling up skills, you’ll see big gains and, most importantly, really see the world in new and exciting ways! Play. Ideally outside if weather permits. 9:40am - 10amWe just released the first version of reading comprehension practice on Khan Academy. It is grouped by grade level:2nd grade3rd grade4th grade5th grade6th grade7th grade8th gradeWe recommend starting at your grade level and doing 1-2 practice sets per day (or 10 practice sets per week). This should take about 10-20 minutes per day. If you find it difficult, completely okay to start at an earlier grade level. Likewise, if you find the passages and questions to be easy, feel free to move to higher grade levels.10:30am - 11am11am - 11:20amSilent reading. Curl up with a favorite book or magazine. Here is a great list of titles that you might want to get your hands on.10am - 10:30am11:20am - 11:40amKhan Academy GrammarRecommend starting by taking the course challenge a few times to figure out what you know and don’t know.Journaling/writing. Try to get that heart pumping again! Taking an online practice test is an effective method of studying for any big test. Practice tests hone test-taking skills, identify strengths/weaknesses and bring attention to any content areas that may need more focus. If one test is good, then 5 will be even better, right? Our 4 best online history tests can help you prep for APUSH, one practice test at a time. Online History Test #1: Khan Academy Khan Academy is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing free, world-class education to any student, anywhere in the world. If you aren’t familiar with Khan Academy yet, now is the perfect time to visit. In addition to their AP section, Khan Academy has free online courses, lessons and test prep covering a wide range of subjects. Select “AP History” from the Arts & Humanities section, then choose between “explore” and “practice”. The “explore” option uses videos, photographs and overviews to present content from all 9 APUSH time periods. The “practice” section features 2-6 online history tests for each time period. Each online history test covers the large concepts and historical events of the time period. Expect multiple-choice questions, plus a “hint” link if you get stuck on a question. The “practice” and “explore” sections are interchangeable, which means you get the same quality content no matter which area of APUSH you visit. Online History Test #2: Albert.io Albert.io is a great resource for many APUSH subjects. Like Kahn Academy, the online history tests are grouped by APUSH time period, so you can easily find what you are looking for. Tests cover major historical events and topics such as the Columbian Exchange or territorial expansion. Albert.io tracks your accuracy, as well as plotting your score against other students practicing the same test. If your budget allows, Albert.io offers a paid free response section. For $29, you gain access to 1,386 free response questions that span all variations of essay – short answer, free response and DBQ – along with a sample response and explanation. Online History Test #3: AP College Board For a completely free, full-length practice test, visit AP College Board. It is the only place to find an official AP online history test. At just over three hours long, College Board’s practice test is an accurate and realistic testing experience. For even more online study options, look at their previously released practice exam. Also check out their numerous offerings for essay questions. Online History Test #4: Barron’s Test Prep: AP US History According to Barron’s, their online history test is the equivalent to the actual APUSH exam in terms of question type, number of questions and level of difficulty. You can choose between “practice” or “timed” modes. Obviously, if you want to replicate a true testing experience, choose the “timed” mode. However, there are many resources available through the “practice” mode, so don’t rule it out. Barron’s provides an answer explanation – complete with key concepts and terminology – for each question on the practice history test. Want more practice with online history tests? Here are 5 more online test practice tests to review. Visit our Magoosh APUSH blogs to learn about APUSH study tips, testing strategies and more. More from Magoosh These are all great AP US History videos. Perfect for your test prep! These APUSH review videos from Adam Norris cover all the time periods and key concepts, and reflect the new format of the exam. Check out his other APUSH playlists as well; they are excellent review material! These Gilder Lehrman videos cover the APUSH course material by time period. These short videos are definitely worth watching. Khan Academy offers videos and practice material for each time period in the APUSH curriculum. An excellent way to learn and practice the course content! AP US History | Practice Exams | FRQ & DBQ | Notes | Videos | Study Guides Want to give your brand videos a cinematic edge?
