Overwatch 2NewsHere’s a closer look at all of the My Hero Academia skins in Overwatch 2! The Overwatch 2 My Hero Academia collaboration features new looks for Tracer, Reinhardt, Juno, Reaper, and Kiriko. Read on for a closer look at all of the new Overwatch 2 My Hero Academia skins and the details on how to unlock them! All Overwatch 2 My Hero Academia skins (Image via esports.gg) Players can become either anime heroes or villains with these legendary skins from Oct. 17 to Oct. 30. The new My Hero Academia skins feature Tracer as Deku, Reinhardt as All Might, Juno as Uravity, Reaper as Tomura Shigaraki, and Kiriko as Himiko Toga. Blizzard confirmed that you can unlock all of the My Hero Academia skins via the My Hero Academia Mega Bundle. This bundle, which costs 5,700 Overwatch Coins, includes a complete set of exclusive items. You can get individual bundles for 2,600 Overwatch Coins each, too. If you're only interested in a particular skin, then simply visit the hero gallery and get it for 1,900 Overwatch Coins. Cost of an individual skin (Image via esports.gg) This isn’t Overwatch 2’s first time collaborating with other franchises or even Blizzard's own titles. Just recently, the game introduced new World of Warcraft skins for Reinhardt, Widowmaker, Zenyatta, and Torbjorn. In the past, Overwatch 2 also collaborated with Transformers, One-Punch Man, Diablo, LE SSERAFIM, Cowboy Bebop, and even Porsche. Stick around on esports.gg for more news, guides, and updates! Overwatch 2 has started to introduce at least one crossover collaboration event per season, teaming up with various games, anime, and other pop culture franchises. These crossover events usually bring a set of challenges for players to participate in and earn rewards, as well as a series of hero cosmetics as certain individuals 'cosplaying' characters from the franchise Overwatch 2 is collaborating with. Previous collaboration events have featured Cowboy Bebop, Diablo, One Punch Man, World of Warcraft, LE SSERAFIM, and more. With the upcoming arrival of Season 13 taking off on October 15, 2024, Overwatch 2 has announced the latest collaboration event with the popular anime series My Hero Academia. If you're wondering which characters have been featured as lucky recipients to receive My Hero Academia skins, players can find this and all other relevant information in the guide below. Related Overwatch 2's Season 12 has added a new Competitive Play reward called Signatures, which players can progress toward. All Overwatch 2 + My Hero Academia Crossover Collab Skins Overwatch 2's Season 13 is set to kick on on October 15, 2024, following a shorter Season 12. The My Hero Academia crossover event will go live in-game on October 17, bringing a series of event challenges and cosmetics for players to enjoy. This is also when Overwatch holds their usual Halloween-themed event, so it's likely the next Battle Pass and shop rotations will also feature many of these aspects. In a way, this makes the MHA crossover even better timed, letting players dress up their favorite characters as iconic heroes and villains from the franchise to celebrate in-game. There have been five skins confirmed for the Overwatch 2 x My Hero Academia crossover event. This includes Tracer as Deku/Izuku Midoriya, Juno as Ochako Uraraka, Reinhardt as All Might, Reaper as Tomura Shigaraki, and Kiriko as Himiko Toga. If this crossover follows the same format as previous crossover events, it's likely that these skins will all be available for purchase separately in the Hero Gallery and Overwatch Shop, as well as in an individual bundle paired with voice lines and highlight intros and a complete bundle to buy all MHA crossover cosmetics and collectibles at once. However, many of these events also offer a free-to-earn crossover skin for players to obtain through the completion of event challenges. Previous examples of this include the Mumen Rider Soldier: 76 from One Punch Man, the Fawksey James Junrat from LE SSERAFIM, and the Ein Wrecking Ball from Cowboy Bebop. If the Overwatch collab follows this same route, then Tracer Deku is by far the most likely candidate for the free-to-earn skin, as she is the original face of Overwatch, and Deku is the face/protagonist of My Hero Academia. Take a look at every Overwatch 2 x My Hero Academia crossover skin below: Deku Tracer Uraraka Juno All Might Reinhardt Shigaraki Reaper Toga Kiriko Get ready to go Ultra in the newest Overwatch 2 collaboration with My Hero Academia! From October 17-30, step into the roles of your favorite anime heroes or villains with exclusive legendary skins that bring the action of My Hero Academia to life in the Overwatch universe. This limited-time collaboration boasts the best of both worlds - on the hero team there’s Tracer as the determined Deku, Juno as the joyful Uravity, and Reinhardt as the symbol of peace, All Might. These heroes prepare to face off against Kiriko as the cunning Himiko Toga, chasing down that which she loves, and Reaper as the leader of the League of Villains, Tomura Shigaraki. Each skin is designed to capture the essence of these beloved characters, giving you the chance to dominate the battlefield with their unique style and flair. The quirky and colorful designs highlight the coolest aspects of these characters, allowing heroes, villains, and their ideas of justice to collide on the front lines. Whether you’re heroically fighting as All Might Reinhardt or causing chaos as the villainous Shigaraki Reaper, you’ll find that each skin in this collection is a tribute to the power and determination that defines these iconic figures and worlds. The Overwatch 2 x My Hero Academia Mega Bundle is your chance to collect them all. This Shop bundle includes all five legendary skins along with additional cosmetics that will make you stand out in any match. Play for free to earn five sprays and a mighty charm. Don’t miss out! Overwatch 2 Season 13 just kicked off with a new battle pass and a new collaboration event. The new crossover pulls in My Hero Academia, adding new skins, highlight intros, and more to the shop for a limited time. The event runs from October 17 to 30, with 30 new cosmetic items in the store, along with five sprays and a weapon charm that can be unlocked for free by completing matches during the event. The shop cosmetics are centered around the five legendary skins: All Might Reinhardt, Deku Tracer, Himiko Toga Kiriko, Tomura Shigaraki Reaper, and Uravity Juno, marking the first legendary skin for new support hero Juno.In addition to the legendary skins, there are highlight intros for Reinhardt, Tracer, and Reaper, plus emotes for Kiriko and Juno. There are also victory poses, name cards, icons, and voicelines for each character, based on the characters from My Hero Academia. If you want the event sprays and weapon charm, you will need to complete 60 matches during the event, although it's important to note that wins grant double the progress.When it comes to buying the cosmetics, you have a few different options. First is the My Hero Academia mega bundle, which costs 5,700 Overwatch Coins (about $50). This bundle includes all 30 cosmetics and is the most cost-effective way to get everything. If you only want certain cosmetics, each character has a bundle costing 2,600 Overwatch Coins (about $25). The character bundles include every cosmetic item for that particular character. If you just want the skins, you can head to the hero gallery and purchase just the skins for 1,900 Overwatch Coins (about $20).Similar to past events like Cowboy Bebop and One Punch Man, it's unknown when, or even if, these cosmetics will return to the store. The LE SSERAFIM collection is one of the few collaboration events that has made its return to the shop at any point after the original event ended, but even that was for a limited time. Below, you can see every cosmetic item available for purchase during the My Hero Academia event in Overwatch 2. Blizzard announced a new crossover event with the My Hero Academia manga and anime series that will be coming to Overwatch 2. We will see it between October 17-30, 2024, and it will show up worldwide. [Thanks, Game Watch!] The announcement of the new My Hero Academia crossover in Overwatch 2 appeared during the Xbox Tokyo Game Show 2024 broadcast. As part of the event, there will be a total of five collaboration skins for several Overwatch 2 characters. The collab will feature five exclusive Legendary skins as heroes and villains from the My Hero Academia world. Additionally, the bundle will feature cosmetic items like emotes and sprays to further promote the event. This article will cover the details of the collab, including the exclusive skins, the official release date, and how to unlock them. Overwatch 2 My Hero Academia collab: Release date, all skins, and how to unlock Release date The Overwatch 2 My Hero Academia collab is set to release on October 17, 2024, two days after Season 13 starts. The event will run until October 30, 2024, and will feature exclusive skins, emotes, sprays and more for you to purchase and flaunt. All skins in the Overwatch 2 My Hero Academia collab Deku Tracer Overwatch’s agile and high DPS character Tracer gets to honor the main protagonist of My Hero Academia, Izuku Midoriya aka Deku. Having similar design styles, this crossover makes complete sense. The skin features Tracer in all blue armor, blue hair and red highlights. Uravity Juno Juno from Overwatch gets a makeover to honor Uravity. Juno also gets a complete color change of her armor and hair to shades of blue and pink to complement her joyful nature. Her facial characteristics have also been modified to match that of Uravity’s. All Might Reinhardt The tank from Overwatch, Reinhardt, always seems to make it to these collabs. He gets to pay homage to My Hero Academia’s All Might aka Toshinori Yagi. Reinhardt gets All Might’s classic Golden Age hero costume makeover with the blue body armor, red and white highlights, and the characteristic horn-like hair makeover. Himiko Toga Kiriko The developers have decided to combine Overwatch’s Kiriko with Himiko Toga. The resulting skin is quite unique and different from the usual appearance of the character. The skin features her in a white jacket and blue skirt, with a complete hairstyle and hair color change. Tomura Shigaraki Reaper Finally, one of the more edgy characters in the game gets to pay homage to the Leader of the League of Villains, Tomura Shigaraki. Reaper is clothed in an all-blue jacket with redesigned guns. The developers have even gone to the extent of including the many severed hands that are characteristic of the My Hero Academia villain.
