Click here to view more about the film. The story centers around Hiccup's plan to celebrate dragons with a grand holiday pageant at the Snoggletog Festival. This heartwarming idea leads to unexpected, hilarious, and thrilling events, but everyone in Berk is reminded that dragons and humans are forever bonded. Snoggletog is the best time of year! It's been ten years since dragons moved to the Hidden World, and even though Toothless doesn't live in New Berk anymore, Hiccup continues the holiday traditions he once shared with his best friend. But the Vikings of New Berk are beginning to forget their friendship with dragons. Hiccup, Astrid, and Gobber know just what to do to keep dragons in the villagers' hearts. Across the sea, the dragons have their own plan. When it becomes clear that the new generation of Vikings doesn't remember the bond between dragons and humans, Hiccup sets a plan to celebrate with a grand Snoggletog holiday pageant and gets a heartwarming surprise visit from Toothless for one more adventure. Reunite with Hiccup, Astr, Toothless, Light Fury, and all your friends on the Isle of New Berk in How to Train Your Dragon Homecoming, a brand new adventure based on the critically acclaimed How to Train Your Dragon film trilogy. That's why we want to bring back the Snoggletog Pageant! So we were thinking we'd like to bring back the Snoggletog Pageant. Jay Baruchel shared the first hint of a holiday short in his Instagram Stories on February 12, 2019, featuring an eight-second clip of himself in the sound booth recording lines about a Snoggletog Pageant. At the Annecy Film Festival in June 2019, Dean DeBlois confirmed a holiday special was coming to fans in attendance. He later mentioned it in an interview. The interview was in French, but the English translation is "Apart from perhaps a special episode for the holiday season, there is — to my knowledge — no other project in development." On July 21, Richard Hamilton acknowledged the special in a tweet, saying "anything is possible." Around September 8, Universal Pictures posted a title page for the special, complete with a logo and a synopsis in the form of a PDF. ========== How to Train Your Dragon: Homecoming is a 2019 animated short film by DreamWorks Animation, directed by Tim Johnson. The special was set before the epilogue of How to Train Your Dragon: The Hidden World and aired on NBC on December 3, 2019. During the Snoggletog celebration in New Berk, Hiccup and Astrid find out that their children, Zephyr and Nuffink, have developed a fear of dragons after reading Stoick's old books. To counter this, Astrid suggests reviving the Snoggletog Pageant to tell the story of how Vikings and dragons made peace. The pageant features Gobber as Stoick and Tuffnut as Hiccup, with Gobber's reference to their run-in with "Visigoths" potentially alluding to the book series' Visithugs.The heartwarming return to the world of dragons is a wonderful addition to the saga, filled with poignant sentiments about treasuring loved ones. When Hiccup and Toothless reunite at their home, they are reminded that even in times of separation, those we hold dear remain close to our hearts. ========== Their family's desire to reciprocate with visits brings a sense of balance and harmony to the relationships between dragons and Vikings. The film's portrayal of love, loyalty, and connection is a valuable reminder during the holiday season.
